KANT'S HORDES RUN RIOT

The word stampede comes from the Spanish word estampida meaning "uproar." It refers to a group of animals running in the same direction when they are overexcited. Driven by sheer impulse, the animals will run off a cliff or run into a river. Cattle ranchers and cowboys recorded stampedes during the American Wild West. Herds of cattle roamed vast plains with no fences to contain them. In these plains, the free roaming cattle, upon hearing a sudden noise such as a pistol shot, a lightning strike or a thunder clap, commenced a stampede, and had to be turned to run in a circle. In the eighteenth century, during the most glorious age of the West, a thinker appeared whose doctrines would cause a philosophic stampede. It was the Age of Enlightenment, a movement exalting inductive reasoning, the scientific method and knowledge through empiricism, and the leader of the stampede was named Immanuel Kant. One of the most influential and discussed philosophers in modern times, Kant was born during the Enlightenment, born on April 22, 1794, but his doctrines were not of the Enlightenment. Kant made a pact with the Devil as his mentor had centuries before. His mentor was the prime symbol of the West, a symbol which distinguished the West from Classical culture. His mentor was Dr Faust, the German scholar who was dissatisified with his life of reason and knowledge and made a pact with the Devil to exchange it for infinite will power and subjectivity. Kant was Western Faustian man par excellence, and he led a movement of counterEnlightenment which challenged the Enlightenment principles of human sanity, common sense, ordinary experience and the belief in the existence of physical objects, and sought to return the West to its Faustian roots. Opposing both the Western Enlightenment and the Classical god Apollo, the Classical counterpart of Faust, the Classical god of reason, knowledge, light, perfection, human sanity and the sun, Kant set forth a comprehensive, systematic philosophy of subjectivism in the theory of knowledge, ethics and esthetics, a philosophy which represented the essence of Western Faustian, antiApollonian, counterEnlightenment thought as nothing else had. In the eighteenth century, Immanuel Kant, born in Konigsberg in the Kingdom of Prussia and died in the same place seventy five years later, was a pistol shot, a lightning strike and a thunder clap which would cause a stampede of subjectivism, which in the twenty first century would trample civilization to death. The Leader. In his best known work, the Critique of Pure Reason, Kant sets forth his terrifying aim: "I have found it necessary to deny knowledge in order to make room for faith." To deny knowledge: a statement sane people have had to read to believe that anybody could make it. To deny knowledge: a statement distilling the essence of the antiAppolonian West. To deny knowledge: a statement of psychosis as brazen as it is an honest statement of the character of Faustian culture. To deny knowledge: a clarion call to the psychotics of the world, reading their preeminent philosophic voice, to rise up and revolt against the ideas of the Enlightenment. Listen to Kant seek to establish the spurious doctrine that truth is discovered apriori or independently of experience. Sane people understand that all knowledge comes from experience because knowledge is caused and does not appear by magic. Listen to Kant promote a non sequitur, a conclusion which does not follow from premises, in his assertion that because man's eyes have the capacity to see, this mere potentiality is an actual form of knowledge, grasped independently of experience: "Since the receptivity of the subject, its capacity to be affected by objects, must necessarily precede all actual perceptions of these objects, it can readily be understood how the form of appearances can be given prior to all actual perceptions, and so exist in the mind apriori." (Critique Of Pure Reason). Listen to Kant proclaim, on the basis of his spurious argument establishing apriorism, that the objects of knowledge are created by man's perception. Listen to him proclaim that the sane belief that perception is the perception of something must be replaced by the insane belief that perception is the perception of nothing, and that the universe revolves around man's consciousness and not the reverse: "Hitherto it has been assumed that all our knowledge must conform to objects. But all attempts to extend our knowledge of objects by establishing something in regard to them apriori, by means of concepts independently of all experience, have ended in failure. We must therefore discover whether we may not have more success in the tasks of metaphysics, if we suppose that objects must conform to our knowledge." (Critique Of Pure Reason). Listen to Kant proclaim that the sane belief that man is blind when his eyes do not function and when he cannot see, must be replaced by the insane belief that man is blind because he has eyes and is blind because he can see. Listen to Kant proclaim that the world of physical objects in space and time is unreal and a product of human perception. Listen to him reject the sane man's argument which runs as follows. 1. An object held to be nonphysical is located nowhere and cannot in fact exist. 2. An object held to exist outside the mind but to be nonphysical is located nowhere and cannot in fact exist. 3. Therefore the assertion of an unperceivable, nonphysical reality existing beyond perception is incoherent. Listen to Kant proclaim that human perception, knowledge and mind have no relation to reality: "I understand by the idealism of all appearances the doctrine that they are all together to be regarded as mere subjective representations and not things in themselves, and accordingly that time and space are only subjective forms of perception and not determinations given for themselves or conditions of objects as things in themselves. To this idealism is opposed realism, which regards space and time as something given in themselves, independently of our perception." (Critique Of Pure Reason). The Stampede. When Kant died in 1804, he had set into motion a stampede of relativistic doctrines which would race down the centuries and come crashing into the twenty first century. Kant's doctrine that physical objects are universal, collective delusions produced by man's senses, and all knowledge is relative to the human race, would produce a devil's gallery of denials of the evidence of the senses. The doctrine was restated by G. W. F. Hegel with the modification that reality itself is not unknowable, as Kant proclaimed, but consists in a pure, infinite, Absolute Mind. Karl Marx and his communists proclaimed that knowledge is relative to class and there are two species of knowledge: a proletarian knowledge and proletarian reality. Friedrich Nietzsche proclaimed that knowledge is relative to the human will to power and reason is a handmaiden of the will. Adolf Hitler and his national socialists proclaimed that all knowledge is relative to race and there are two species of knowledge: an Aryan knowledge and a nonAryan knowledge. The conventionalists proclaimed that the laws of reality are grounded in agreements made by society, and there are as many realites as there are societies. The pragmatists proclaimed that knowledge is relative to social needs, interests, consensus and communication. Martin Heidegger proclaimed that knowledge is relative to human existence and human time, called Dasein. Ludwig Wittgenstein proclaimed that knowledge is relative to language games and forms of human life, and there are as many species of knowledge as there are human vocabularies. The postmodernists, who are in fact postEnlightenment thinkers and not postmodernists because modern philosophy from Descartes and Kant onward is subjectivist, proclaim that knowledge is relative to texts, and there are as many species of knowledge as there are texts and their analyses, interpretations and deconstructions. A new generation of Marxists proclaimed that knowledge is relative to gender, race, class and sexual orientation. The Stampede. Look at the twenty first century and see the train of the Faustian West reach the end of its line and crash into a Kantian station of total mental withdrawal, a Kantian bahnhof of dissociation and disintegration, a Kantian hall of mirrors marked schizophrenia. The glass and bricks lie strewn across the field of civilizational collapse. They tell a story of the final chapter of the West. Read their messages. They proclaim that physical objects are creations of individual perception. Physical objects are creations of bourgeois, capitalist beliefs. Traditional mathematics is a creation of white people and must be replaced by black mathematics. The ideas of reason, science and empiricism are constructs of white supremacy and must be replaced by alternative, indigenous, nonempirical ways of knowing, employing mysticism, magic and mental navel gazing. There exists no universal biological knowledge and the existence of sex chromosomes is a bourgeois construct, and human sex is in fact mutable and can be changed by human choice, drugs, surgery or self definition. There exists no universal medical knowledge and the reason why blacks in medical schools fail so frequently is that they are tested on their knowledge of white medicine and not black medicine. A progressive university is run by tenured faculty teaching students that there is no absolute truth, no world of physical objects and no perception of anything in the external world, and all knowledge is relative to people, places, times, situations and cultures. A progressive journalism school teaches students that the task of their profession is not to file news reports based on objective facts and information, or to give opinions based on objective facts and information, because no such things can be held to exist, but rather to disseminate Marxist propaganda and agitational flamethrowers, and foment global revolution: "A significant number of our country's most serious problems have their roots in higher education. And there is no more serious problem than the notion–fashionable in academia for decades now–that truth is relative, or that it is a matter of individual perception or cultural mores, or even that there is no such thing as absolute truth. The hard sciences affect the tools we make, build and use, but the social sciences affect how we see ourselves and others, how we interact with each other, and how we construct and regulate our societies. In fact, dangerous nonsense from the social sciences has bled into the hard sciences, which is why we now find ourselves in a situation where educators say with a straight face that math is racist, and where students at some of the most prestigious medical schools in the country cannot pass their boards–due, at least in part, to popular theories that academic standards for admission are racist and that certain races cannot meet them (which itself sounds like a racist theory to me). At some of those same schools, students are forced to learn 'alternative ways of knowing' and indigenous health practices. Gender ideologues announce to the world that men can become women, and vice versa, by sheer force of will and self definition (plus drugs and surgery in some cases), chromosomal biology notwithstanding. Tenured faculty at some of the most elite educational institutions promote the idea that there is no objective truth. Those schools then crank out graduates who, as journalists, believe that the primary objective of their profession is not the pursuit and publication of unbiased facts but the creation and dissemination of a narrative that shapes public opinions in ways the journalists desire." (Western Society Will Be Destroyed Without A Commitment To Truth by Laura Hollis). At the Konigsberg Cathedral in Kaliningrad, Russia lies the mausoleum of Immanuel Kant. The mausoleum was constructed in 1924 at the 200th anniversary of Kant's birth. Newlyweds across the world bring flowers to the mausoleum. They bring flowers to a tomb inside of which lie the remains of the Father of Modern Philosophy and human sanity which he declared war on.

BOY KILLERS LOOSE AT ETON

They were the mark of precocity. Nathan spoke his first words at the age of four months and three weeks old. While still an adolescent, he began studies at the University of Chicago, earned Phi Beta Kappa honors, and spoke five languages fluently. Richard entered the prestigious University of Chicago High School at the age of 12 and graduated when he was 14. He then entered the University of Michigan and graduated at 17. On May 21, 1924, Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb kidnapped and murdered 14 year old Bobby Franks in Chicago, Illinois, and committed the crime of the century. They killed in the name of Friedrich Nietszche's philosophy of the superman. They killed in the name of Nietzsche's definition of the superior individual as one unbeholden to the rules of morality, doing exactly as he pleases at any time he pleases: "A superman is, on account of certain superior qualities inherent in him, exempted from the ordinary laws which govern men. He is not liable for anything he may do." (Letter from Leopold to Loeb, in For The Thrill Of It All by Simon Baatz). Growing up in the affluent Kenwood neighborhood on Chicago's South Side, Leopold and Loeb were Satan's poster boys for adolescent evil, and they blackened the lives of their young victim's parents until death mercifully put them out of their suffering. Nathan Leopold was born in 1904, Richard Loeb was born in 1905, but these precocious, upper class boy killers are alive today. They are alive at the largest and most prestigious boarding school in Britain. Hailed at the "nurse of England's statesmen," it occupies first place on the list of the world's top 100 private schools. Founded in 1440 by Henry VI as King's College of Our Lady of Eton beside Windesore, Eton College is world renowned for its history, its wealth and its alumni. Known as Old Etonians, they include prime ministers, world leaders, Nobel laureates and generations of the British aristocracy. In the twenty first century, this 600 year old boarding school for boys aged 13 to 18 has become a crime school teaching boys to kill. It has become a school teaching a generation of new Leopolds and new Loebs, teaching them to venture forth out into the world and kill, not in the name of Nietzsche, but in the name of the founder of the number one religion of our time. Galvanizing the moral sewers of society as no religion ever has in history, exciting into action the dark, underground channels of the discontented, the malcontented, the hate filled and the violent, this religion is known as Marxism, and in the twenty first century, it has entered a storied private boarding school and transformed it into an academy for young killers. In the twenty first century, Eton College teaches its boys to kill in the name of the rainbow flag. In the name of gay pride, lesbian pride, bisexual pride and transgender pride. In the name of preserving emotional safety and well being for Marxists. In the name of fighting the patriarchicl capitalist system. In the name of fighting male oppression and exploitation. In the name of achieving social justice for women, nonwhites and the poor. In the name of hatred of males fueled by feminist propaganda. In the name of radical leftist politics. In the name of fighting the toxic masculinity of liberal, rationalist, Enlightenment ideas. In the name of combating the masculine virtues of commitment to reason, science, free inquiry and individual rights. In the name of fighting the antiwoke regime of liberal democracy. In the name of fighting the liberal freedom of speech which allows antiMarxist thought to be expressed. In the name of fighting the traditional liberal educational system demanding academic rigor, high standards and hard work. In the name of fighting liberal impulses and interests. In the name of fighting the dangerous dissemination of antiMarxist ideas. In the name of reverting human society to a state of primitive, warring racial, ethnic, gender, economic and cultural groups. In the name of abolishing the freedom guaranteed under liberal law to say things Marxists do not want to hear. In the name of protecting the rights of people who call themselves transgenders, people who deny the scientifically established existence of sex chromosomes and claim that they have become members of the opposite sex through drugs, surgery or self definition. In the name of protecting the rights of transgender males to play on women's sports teams, use women's showers, locker rooms and bathrooms, and obtain official government identification stating they are members of the opposite sex. In the name of left wing myths, legends and superstitions, such as that mystical gender, race and class tribes exist above and apart from individuals. In the name of replacing academic excellence and liberal education with courses in Marxist indoctrination and political correctness. In the name of protecting an establishment predicated on radicalism, revolution and Marxist mass destruction: "Eton College—the elite school that has educated everyone from the Duke of Wellington and George Orwell to Princes William and Harry and the current Archbishop of Canterbury —has gone woke. Actually, it has been heading that way for quite some time under its grisly, newish Head Master Simon ‘Trendy Hendy’ Henderson—the dripping wet creature responsible for the rainbow flag now fluttering limply above the school’s 15th century buildings. But Henderson’s latest move really is the final straw for this once mighty institution, which has been training the British elite since Henry VI founded it in 1440. The Telegraph has the story: 'The £42,500 a year boarding school has been accused of 'prioritizing emotional safety over intellectual challenge' after it allegedly banned a presentation on the theme of masculinity from being delivered to students. Will Knowland, who has taught English at Eton College for nine years, alleges that he has been dismissed for gross misconduct following a dispute over a lecture he was due to give pupils earlier this year. The lecture, titled The Patriarchy Paradox was part of the Perspectives course which is taken by older students to encourage them to think critically about subjects of public debate. But the school objected to this lecture, which was essentially a way of teaching the boys not to be ashamed of being male. You might not think that this was a message that needed emphasizing in a school which has been educating the upper echelons of the patriarchy for nearly 600 years. However, the English public school system is not what it used to be: often, under the influence of 'progressive' headmasters like Trendy Hendy, they have become just as obsessed with pushing SJW [Social Justice Warrior] politics as any state school. I know this because one of my sons went to Eton. He was still there when Trendy Hendy arrived and began his woke purging. One of the first things Trendy Hendy did was to show how down he was with the kids by giving them high fives rather than shake their hands. But it got worse, much worse. More and more leftist politics were squeezed into the curriculum. On one occasion, the boys were forced to sit through a lecture from feminist Laura Bates, creator of the Everyday Sexism Project: essentially so they could be told about the perils of toxic masculinity. Knowland's lecture was a much needed antidote to this relentless political correctness. As he said in a letter to the school, he felt the topic of masculinity in the school 'lacked balance.' Which is a polite way of saying that the boys were being force fed feminist propaganda. Before delivering the lecture (which would have been for senior boys), he circulated it around the school—and one staff member objected. I understand that this staff member is one of the new intake of wokistas who hate Eton's traditional values and want to reshape it according to the politically correct values of the liberal left. Henderson could very easily have ignored this complaint simply by defending the school's long traditions of freedom of expression. Eton, as anyone familiar with it knows, offers—or used to offer—probably the best, most rounded, most intellectually challenging education of almost any school in the world. Though very traditional in its emphasis on rigor and hard work, it is also remarkably libertarian in the way that boys' eccentricities and personal interests are encouraged. Boys finish their five years at Eton having been exposed to all manner of intellectual ideas. This tradition is slowly being strangled by the new regime. Rather than stick up for Knowland, Henderson backed the staff member who wanted his lecture censored. Knowland put his Patriarchy Paradox lecture up on his YouTube channel Knowland Knows. His site's motto is taken from George Orwell: 'If liberty means anything at all, it means the right to tell people what they do not want to hear.' One of the mildly contentious points he makes in his lecture concerns formerly male transgender athletes invading women's sport. He quotes a female fighter who'd had her skull fractured by a 'transgender' fighter in the ring. 'I am an abnormally strong woman in my own right. I have never felt the strength I felt in a fight like that night. I have never felt so dominated in my life. When it comes to a combat sport, I don't think it's fair.' Apparently this was all too much for Eton's woke faction. (It has another, probably larger but less vocal faction which loathes all this left wing nonsense). By Knowland's account, he was suspended after refusing to remove the video from his YouTube channel. The Telegraph reports: 'Because I believe passionately in free speech, I said I would only take it down if given a clear reason, which is how I ended up being dismissed,' Mr Knowland alleged. He said he is appealing against his dismissal, and if this fails he intends to take the school to an employment tribunal if necessary. " (Eton Sacks Teacher Who Dared Question 'Toxic Masculinity' by James Delingpole). On 650 hectares of land in the town of Eton in Berkshire, England, 1300 boys attend a school under its motto Floreat Etona. May Eton Flourish. In the twenty first century, Eton College is flourishing. It is flourishing as a campus megaphone of Marxism peddled as progressive ideology. It is flourishing as a one party, totalitarian monoculture of the sort described by its most famous alumnus. In the twenty first century, George Orwell's masterpiece 1984 has come alive at Eton and pushed liberal ideas into a memory hole.

ISLAM'S NEW ADDRESS: MAIN STREET USA

December 7, 1941. The Empire of Japan launches a military attack on the United States Pacific Fleet at

Pearl Harbor in Hawaii. In two waves launched from six aircraft carriers, 353 Japanese fighters and bombers sink four American battleships, three cruisers, three destroyers, an antiaircraft ship and a minelayer. Civilian and military deaths total 2400, making the attack the deadliest foreign attack on America before the September 11, 2001 attacks. September 11, 2001. Nineteen terrorists from Al Qaeda hijack four commercial airliners, crash two into the Twin Towers of the World Trade Center in New York City and another into the Pentagon in Virginia. The attacks kill 3000 civilians, making them the deadliest foreign attacks in American history. Two decades after the 9/11 attacks, America is under attack again, under attack by the same religion which struck on 9/11, and under an attack which has been abetted and enabled by an enemy operating within. Two decades after Islamic terrorists shouting Allahu Akbar staged the greatest attack on America since Pearl Harbor, a coalition of Marxists and Islamists has launched the greatest attack on America in its history, placing the nation under seige. The Marxists are the enemy within, supported by the nation's sewers, streets, and cultural and political establishment, and they have reached out and made common cause with Islam in a united war to defeat that which both religions hate most of all: the institutions of the Enlightenment. Two decades after the World Trade Center and the Pentagon collapsed into smoke and flames, two hate movements, one from the East and one from the West, have joined forces and brought down the world's former citadel of freedom, the former arsenal of the West, in a stark and dramatic illustration of just how sick civilization has become and just how far the cancer of far left ideas has advanced in the twenty first century. This century is the final century of America and the West. It is the century in which two mass movements, one based in the East and one based in the West, have become comrades in arms and sent the wheels of history racing backward into the year zero. In a new edition of the coalition formed during World War II between two totalitarian movements, formed between national socialist Germany and Islam, to fight Jews, liberal order and Enlightenment civilization, another axis power has formed. In the twenty first century, Hitler's Aryan Marxist movement has been replaced by gender, race and class Marxism, and the new partnership between Islam and today's Marxism has set into motion a plan for the subversion of America. The new partnership has invaded every sector of American and peddled its wares in every manner, shape and form. It peddles Islam on radio and television. It peddles Islam in classrooms and youth clubs. It peddles Islam in law courts and congressional testimony. It peddles Islam in education, politics, culture and political activism. It peddles Islam in high fashion houses. It peddles Islam on smartphones with circular lights. It peddles Islam as a religion of peace and benevolence. It peddles Islam through internet streaming and Netflix documentaries. It peddles Islam in hijab booths in universities. It peddles Islam on TikTok, Hulu and Instagram. It peddles Islam on high school panels. It peddles Islam in the name of human rights and human equality. It peddles Islam in scholarly books and papers. It peddles Islam by Madison Avenue marketing. It peddles Islam over academic microphones. It peddles Islam in the name of inclusivity. It peddles Islam in the name of tolerance. It peddles Islam over mobile telephones. It peddles Islam in kindergartens, primary schools, middle schools and high schools. It peddles Islam over wifi. It peddles Islam in the name of nonpartisanship and bipartisanship. It peddles Islam in the name of achieving equity. It peddles Islam in the name of achieving equal representation. It peddles Islam in the name of protecting civil rights. It peddles Islam in the name of protecting mental health. It peddles Islam in the name of protecting human safety, purpose and identity. It peddles Islam in the name preserving modesty. It peddles Islam in the name of progressive women and girls. It peddles Islam in the name of women's choice and feminism. It peddles Islam in the name of human liberation.It peddles Islam in the name of fighting capitalist colonialism. It peddles Islam in the name of religious freedom. It peddles Islam in the name of gay rights, lesbian rights, transgender rights and indigenous rights. It peddles Islam in the name of fighting hate speech and migroaggression. It peddles Islam in the name of human understanding. It peddles Islam in the name of interfaith unity. It peddles Islam in the name of normality. It peddles in the name of redressing the people's grievances under the capitalist system. It peddles Islam in the name of human brotherhood. It peddles Islam through civil servants. It peddles Islam under official badges. It peddles Islam in college tutorials. It peddles Islam at Ivy League campuses. It peddles Islam with designer sneakers. It peddles Islam under global brands such as Sephora, Nike and H&M. It peddles Islam in the name of social and emotional learning. It peddles Islam through internet influencers. It peddles Islam in the name of wokeism and Marxism. It peddles Islam through university curriculums, clubs and counselors. It peddles Islam as academic content. It peddles the Islamic State, Al Qaeda, Hamas, the Holy Land Foundation, the Muslim Brotherhood, the Muslim Students Association and Muslim mass murder from the offices of university professors and administrators. It peddles Islamic sabotage, assassination and the destruction of Western civilization in the name of empowerment of women, nonwhites, the poor, and the universe of victims exploited and oppressed by Western liberal democracy: "Not all jihadists look scary and scream Allahu Akbar. Some look great, smile calmly, and speak softly through glowing screens—and they're being heard. This is their modern day jihad. It plays out in American classrooms, youth clubs, and congressional briefings. The mission hasn't changed—only the medium. And the soldiers? They look nothing like what we were trained to fear. Today's warriors for Allah wear designer sneakers and carry ring lights. They speak in soft tones, quote curated lines from the Quran, and smile as they tell your teenager that Islam is the religion Christianity was supposed to be. They headline school panels, show up in Netflix's teen docuseries, and dominate TikTok and Hulu with carefully packaged 'faith journeys.' This is marketing with a mission. The Muslim Brotherhood doesn't need to smuggle operatives into the United States. They did the work decades ago. What we're seeing now is the harvest of a long planted seed: a strategy to neutralize American resistance to Sharia by embedding Islamic ideology in education, politics, culture, and activism. It's dressed in the language of rights, representation, and peace, but the foundation is jihad. Make no mistake: they share the same Allah, the same Muhammad, and the same Quran as ISIS and Al Qaeda. The tone may be different, but the goal remains the same—Islamic domination under Sharia. The weapons are no longer bombs, but badges, books, and microphones. From hijab booths on college quads to World Religion Week in middle schools, from algorithm approved dawah influencers to Muslim public servants lobbying for inclusivity laws that silence criticism of Islam—this is not foreign influence. It's homegrown. It's bipartisan. And it's spreading. You're not paranoid. You're paying attention. This is the result of decades of ideological invasion—marketed as tolerance, funded as equity, and defended as civil rights. The modern strategy is infiltration through normalization. And no group has mastered that art like the Muslim Brotherhood, whose 1991 internal memo, exposed during the Holy Land Foundation trial, plainly declared: 'The Ikhwan must understand that their work in America is a kind of grand jihad in eliminating and destroying Western civilization from within and sabotaging its miserable house—Muslim Brotherhood, Explanatory Memorandum. Today, that grand jihad isn't being waged with weapons, but with Wi-Fi. The battlefield is your child's phone. The mission? Dawah. Conversion. Submission. One child at a time. They aren't hiding in dark corners of the internet. They're trending. Viral. Followed. Sponsored. Andyour kids are listening. Let's pull back the filter, because behind every esthetic dawah account is a doctrinal war strategy. The TikTok Imams and Instagram Hijabis. Social media is the Brotherhood's new minbar. And America's youth are the congregation. The mosque isn't the front line anymore. The For You page is. On TikTok, @muslimthrive (1.2M followers) and @ummjawad (861K) post daily content combining: 1. Quran verses 2. Hijab tutorials 3. Mental health talks 4. And gentle criticism of Christianity. Their tone is soft. Their feeds are meticulously staged. Their appeal is massive. Another account, @convertstories (752K followers), shares daily clips of teens—many from Christian families—publicly declaring the shahada. The videos often feature tears, subtitles, and affirmations like: 'I finally found peace.' 'This is the truth I was always looking for.' The content doesn't need to explain Islam. It feels like safety, purpose, and identity. And it spreads—fast. On Instagram, a new wave of modestly dressed, slickly packaged female influencers are reshaping Islam's image—one reel, quote, and hijab wrap at a time. Accounts like @muslimgirl (559K followers), @hijabisecrets (341K), and @nourtagouri (591K) post a blend of: 1. Fashion forward hijab tutorials 2. Quran based affirmations 3. Modesty is power slogans 4. Woke friendly messages about identity and oppression." (The Prophet's Foot Soldiers by Aynaz Anni Cyrus). In the Devil's picture gallery is an item in the front room, taken on November 28, 1941 at the Reich Chancellery in Berlin. It shows German leader Adolf Hitler talking with Grand Mufti Haj Amin el Husseini. It shows the leader of one totalitarian movement exchanging ideas and opinions with the leader of another. In the twenty first century, this picture has been updated by the march of events. The face of Hitler has been replaced by his successor, the face of Marxist gender, race and class politics, while the face of the Grand Mufti has been replaced by a composite picture of today's voices of Muslim terror. The updated picture hangs on the tombstone of civilization.

ELON MUSK: WELFARE PARASITE

Unlike most other national environments, the British environment of the early nineteenth century contained relatively few threats to those who improved and applied existing inventions, whether from business competitors, labor or the government itself. In other European countries, by contrast, the merchant guilds were a pervasive source of veto for many centuries. This power was typically bestowed upon them by government. A steam powered horseless carriage produced in France in 1769 was officially suppressed. (Technological Development by Raymond Vernon). Corporate welfare. Crony capitalism. Rent seeking. These are black marks on free societies which allow private businesses to flourish, not from free enterprise, but from collusion with the government. Leader of Tesla, SpaceX, Open AI, xAI, Neuralink, Starlink, SolarCity, the Boring Compan, and the social media platform X, and named Time magazine's Person of the Year in 2021, Elon Musk is a poster boy and person of the century for the scandal of government-business corruption. In the history of the capitalist system, there has been no greater receiver of government largesse for the expansion of businesses than Elon Musk. The richest man in the world, worth 425 billion dollars, has acquired his wealth through state plunder. Totaling 38 billion dollars, a bright red communist package of government contracts, loans, subsidies and tax credits granted at federal and state levels has propelled Musk to the top of the list of the world's corporate kleptocrats: "Elon Musk, who is spearheading efforts to cut spending he alleges is wasteful, has himself benefitted from over $38 billion in government funding, according to a just published expose in the Washingtion Post. The Post uses Good Jobs First's Subsidy Tracker to help tell the story of just how much companies controlled by Musk have received. From the article: 'Over the years, Musk and his businesses have received at least $38 billion in government contracts, loans, subsidies and tax credits, often at critical moments, a Washington Post analysis has found, helping seed the growth that has made him the world's richest person. Nearly a tenth of government money that has benefited Musk's companies comes from agencies in eight states, including California. Since 2007, state and local governments have given Musk companies at least $1.5 billion in tax credits, grants and reimbursements, while various government agencies at multiple levels contributed another $2.1 billion, much of it to drive the development of Tesla and the batteries it relies upon, according to data from the advocacy group.' " (Elon Musk's Business Empire Is Built On $38 Billion In Government Funding, Good Jobs First, February 26, 2025). On public money, Elon Musk has developed dangerous electric vehicles. He has developed car bombs called batteries. Filling the air with smoke, combustion, terror and fear, his vehicles have gone up in blazes and taken tax dollars along with them: "In a recent op-ed, the Washington Post outlines how Tesla's battery issues and fires may not just be due to poor design and manufacturing but a side effect of electric vehicles relying on lithium-ion batteries. The Washington Post reports in an op-ed titled Tesla's Big Batteries Aren't The Fire Problem. Lithium

Is, that Americans should be questioning whether lithium-ion powerpacks should be used for applications such as electric vehicles. The piece argues that the science of lithium-ion batteries make them inherently dangerous. Fires have been a major issue for Tesla vehicles in recent years. Breitbart News recently reported that another Tesla caused major issues after catching fire with firefighters in Stamford, Connecticut, struggling to put out the blaze. Breitbart News has reported that fire departments have begun recognizing that electric vehicle fires pose a significant danger and need further training to handle them appropriately." (The Science Of Why Electric Vehicle Batteries Are So Dangerous by Lucas Nolan). On public money, Elon Musk has brought out the firefighters of the nation to extinguish the flames ignited by his vehicular death traps. Containing lithium-ion batteries, his electric vehicles are fires which keep on igniting and keep on blazing, resisting all efforts to put them out, engulfing people, places, charging stations and tax dollars in flames: "A routine car fire call in Upper Allen, Pennsylvania, turned into a complex firefighting operation when crews discovered the blaze involved a Tesla at an electric vehicle charging station. A massive response from multiple fire departments including a hazmat team was required to safely extinguish the blaze. CBS 21 reports that on Monday evening, the Upper Allen Fire Department responded to what was initially reported as a standard car fire at a local Sheetz convenience store. However, upon arrival, firefighters quickly realized they were dealing with a more challenging situation: a Tesla electric vehicle engulfed in flames at a charging station. Unlike conventional gasoline powered vehicles, EVs contain large lithium-ion battery packs that can reignite even after the initial fire appears to be extinguished. This characteristic requires firefighters to adopt specialized tactics and often prolongs the time needed to fully secure the scene. (EV Inferno: Tesla Burns To Bare Metal At Pennsylvania Charging Station by Lucas Nolan). On public money, Elon Musk has developed electric vehicles which catch fire as a matter of course. Electric vehicles which burst into flames without warning or delay of any kind. Electric vehicles sending forth raging floods of fire. Electric vehicles which explode in garages, under buildings, in dealerships, during safety inspections, at charging stations and on streets. Electric vehicles which are fire hazards and flamethrowers on wheels. Electric vehicles which must be removed from human habitations. Electric vehicles which are racing hurricanes of unstoppable combustion. Electric vehicles which are cyclonic storms of death and destruction. Electric vehicles which ignite and continually reignite, vaporing endless liters of dousing water, defying the efforts and imagination of firefighters, overunning homes and neighborhoods in surging waves of fire and rolling masses of smoke, and reducing tax dollars to ashes: "A Tesla electric vehicle caught fire while parked inside a garage that was flooded with saltwater from Hurricane Helene in Florida, prompting officials to issue warnings to EV owners in storm affected areas. WFLA reports that dramatic surveillance footage released by Pinellas County authorities in Florida shows the moment a parked Tesla spontaneously burst into flames inside a garage that had been inundated by floodwaters from Hurricane Helene. The video reveals how the fire originated underneath the electric vehicle and rapidly spread, completely engulfing the car in flames within a span of just one minute as thick, billowing smoke filled the cluttered garage space. The alarming incident occurred after Hurricane Helene battered Florida and other southeastern states like North Carolina, causing extensive flooding in many areas. In response to the Tesla fire, Pinellas County officials took to Facebook to share the video footage and caution owners of electric vehicles about the potential risks associated with water damage from the hurricane. 'Electric Vehicles that have been flooded in saltwater can catch fire,' the Pinellas County Government warned in their Facebook post on Saturday. 'If you evacuated and left an electric vehicle or golf cart in your garage or under a building and you are not able to get to it or move it, we want you to let us know.' Authorities further advised EV owners to take necessary precautions to prevent similar fire hazards. They strongly recommended against charging, driving, or storing electric vehicles and e-bikes inside homes or garages if the vehicles had been exposed to saltwater flooding. The county stressed that any flooded electric vehicle should be moved at least 50 feet away from flammable materials and towed to a dealership for a thorough safety inspection before attempting to operate it again. Breitbart News has previously reported on the dangers of EV batteries impacted by salt water. In 2022, Florida Chief Financial Officer and State Fire Marshal Jimmy Patronis wrote an urgent letter to the NHTSA seeking guidance on how to deal with the threat of EV fires caused by stormwater: 'The State Fire Marshal's Office is in need of immediate guidance regarding the response to fires produced by electric vehicles (EVs) that are compromised as a result of lithium batteries corroding from exposure to salt water. Last week, electric vehicles were seen catching on fire in Florida after becoming waterlogged during Hurricane Ian, giving firefighters a new challenge they haven't faced before. I joined North Collier Fire Rescue to assess response activities related to Hurricane Ian and saw with my own eyes an EV continuously ignite, and continually reignite, as fireteams doused the vehicle with tens of thousands of gallons of water.' " (Electric Time Bomb: Tesla Bursts Into Flames Inside Garage Flooded by Hurricane Helene by Lucas Nolan). Publicly voicing opposition to Donald Trump's Big Beautiful Bill on the grounds that it will increase the federal deficit to 2.5 trillion dollars, Elon Musk is in fact opposed to the bill because it will remove the kinds of policies through which he has earned his wealth. It will remove the Biden administration's mandate for all Americans to buy electric cars, remove federal subsidies for electric vehicles, and thereby harm his Tesla and SpaceX businesses. Person of the Year is a marker of influence, and few individuals have had more influence than Musk on life on Earth, and potentially life off Earth too. (Time 2021. The Choice Of Elon Musk by Edward Felsenthal). Elon Musk, Fellow of the Royal Society and holder of an honorary doctorate in Engineering and Technology from Yale University. Elon Musk, winner of George Low Transportation Award given by the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics, the Gold Space Medal given by the International Aeronautics Federation and Gold Medal given by the Royal Aeronautical Society. Elon Musk, American oligarch, world cultural icon and the greatest crony capitalist in history, unemployed for his adult life, on the dole collecting corporate welfare.

COUNTERENLIGHTENMENT IN THE CLASSROOM

If there is something you know, communicate it. If there is something you don't know, search for it. Thus speaks noble words beneath an engraving from the Encyclopedia, published in France between 1751 and 1772. This general reference work was the voice of the Enlightenment and inspired the world with its vision. The Enlightenment. The age in which man was educated in the use of his intellect, the age of man's release from mental slavery, the age of man's spiritual maturity, the age of liberation of the mind from the ignorance of dogmas. Lasting over a century, from the early seventeenth century to around 1800, the Enlightenment was a movement advancing the cause of reason, empiricism, science and sanity in the face of religious tyranny. Its leading lights, Johannes Kepler, Galileo Galilei, Francis Bacon, Christiaan Huygens and Isaac Newton, were beacons of hope for those crushed beneath the dead weight of blind belief. For the past one hundred years, the West has been under attack by a movement of counterEnlightenment which has pushed the culture into a spiral of extinction. This movement promotes the cause of faith and force, and its adherents range from old time religionists, Christians, Muslims and Jews, to multifarious forms of Marxism, such as communism, fascism, and gender, race and class politics. Supported by the moral sewers of society flowing with the ideas of the discontented, the disaffected, the degenerate and the spiritually deceased for whom reason is a burden and a pursuer, this movement has captured every sector of human activity and sounded the death knell of Enlightenment institutions. Alma mater means nourishing mother and is one of the most popular symbols of the university. For centuries in the West, institutions of higher education taught students how to think. They taught students the primacy of the scientific method and the evidence of the senses.

They taught students the rational person's recognition that there exists a world of physical objects which man directly perceives, objects which are as they are and cannot act in a manner contrary to what they are. Universities nourished students on the philosophy of human sanity. In the twenty first century, the movement of counterEnlightenment, gathering momentum since the demise of the Enlightenment two centuries ago, has rendered alma mater a dead letter, a phrase without meaning, and established an academic regime of ideological indoctrination. In every professor's office in the West is a manifesto of mind control which has declared war on liberal education and subjected students to the drumbeats of new forms of religion. A popular doctrine of the new religion is called postmodernism, because it claims to reject the ideas of modernity. The name is a misnomer because the dominant ideas of modernity have been the currents of apriorism, subjectivism and irrationalism in one form or another, which are just the ideas the socalled postmodernists promote. The dominant ideas of modernity are based on the philosophies of Rene Descartes and Immanuel Kant. These thinkers were active during the Enlightenment but were opposed to the Enlightenment. They were not children of the Enlightenment but rebellious delinquents marching against the Enlightenment. When Decartes proclaimed that the sole certainty man can grasp is just the prior certainty of his own consciousness, and when Kant proclaimed that "I have found it necessary to deny knowledge in order to make room for faith," the stage was set for the appearance of a movement of apriorism, subjectivism and irrationalism which sought to return the West to its Faustian roots. The stage was set for the appearance of a movement of counterEnlightenment, and this movement has been falsely labeled as postmodernist. The academic manifesto of the twenty first century proclaims that a progressive university rejects the principles of common sense and perceptual realism, according to which the physical world exists and we perceive it. A progressive university teaches the creed of subjectivism and denies the possibility of knowledge in order to make room for human insanity. A progressive university teaches students that the sole self evident truths are those which say that physical objects are cultural posits and all we can perceive are just our own ideas and perceptions. A progressive university teaches students to reject the primacy of reason and the principles of peaceful, liberal order and to think and act like violent Marxists. A progressive university awards undergraduate and graduate degrees in proficiency in defending the people's party line of Marxist political correctness. A progressive university graduates lawyers and Phds specialized in Marxist theological advocacy. A progressive university teaches students that there exist no universal truths transcending group identity and all truths are relative to genders, races and classes. A progressive university teaches students that all truth is relative to ideology and if one's ideology says that sex chromosomes do not exist, then they do not exist, and human gender is mutable, and there exist such persons as transgender males, or males who have changed into females, and transgender females, or females who have changed into males. A progressive university teaches students the tenets of Marxism packaged as progressivism. A progressive univerisity is a republic of Marxist tribal politics elected unanimously by students, professors and administrators. A progressive university is a Marxist soapbox and megaphone leading riots in the streets, fomenting gender, race and class wars, and chanting slogans of hatred of America, the capitalist system, liberal democracy and Western Enlightenment civilization: "Harvard has rejected common sense. When Lord Acton, the great nineteenth century historian and champion of liberty, visited Harvard in 1853, he found that the college's philosophy was common sense realism. Acton wrote that by 'the third year, Reid becomes a textbook.' The Reid in question was Thomas Reid, author of An Inquiry Into The Human Mind On The Principles Of Common Sense (1764). The common sense realist philosophers—especially Reid, Adam Smith, and Francis Hutcheson—fundamentally shaped the thinking of America's Founders and provided the foundation for teaching and learning in American colleges until Acton's visit and beyond. Harvard was not alone in its dedication to Reid and common sense realism. In fact, as Arthur Herman notes, common sense realism was 'virtually the official creed of the American Republic.' Allen Guelzo puts it this way: 'Before the Civil War, every major [American] collegiate intellectual was a disciple of Scottish common sense realism.' In his book Scottish Philosophy In America, James Foster states that it provided the 'philosophical orientation at Princeton, Harvard, and Yale, as well as newly founded colleges stretching from Rhode Island to Texas.' By the time of Acton's visit to Harvard, although it was then—and is still today—referred to as Scottish, America had become the real home of common sense realism and the center of its continued development. James McCosh, president of Princeton from 1868 to 1888, is a prime example of this trend. McCosh published prolifically, was admired for his clear and readable style, and was one of many American thinkers who kept common sense realism strong in the nineteenth century. The core idea of common sense realism is that self evident truths exist and can be known through common sense; common sense enables us to recognize what is self evidently true. Read the Founders, and you will find them constantly referring to self evident truths. They drew their understanding of self evidence from Reid. Because the Founders' thinking relied on Reid's conception of self evident truth, Harvard, Princeton, and other institutions at the time aimed to teach American college students how to think like Americans. We have heard and read these words—'We hold these Truths to be self evident'—all our lives. To understand the Founders' conception of self evident truth is to approach the very heart of the American founding. Jefferson and the other Founders held that 'all men are created equal' is self evidently true. According to Lincoln, it is 'an abstract truth, applicable to all men and all times.' For more than a hundred years, American colleges dedicated themselves to teaching the philosophy that the Founders and Lincoln relied on in making that declaration. Things have changed at Harvard and virtually every other American university. As in the early days of the Republic, American universities today share a philosophical orientation. Postmodernism rejects truth and common sense. This explains how a Supreme Court Justice can declare that she does not know what a woman is; Justice Jackson received her bachelor's degree from Harvard College and her law degree from Harvard Law School. But postmodern academics are often not content simply to teach their students to reject truth and common sense—the foundation of the Founders' idea of America. They also frequently indoctrinate students in Progressivism, the systematic rejection of the Founders' idea of America itself. This is the explanation for all those fabulously privileged young Americans demonstrating their violent rejection of the American way of life by rioting in the streets and chanting antiAmerican slogans. They could not make their antiAmericanism any clearer—and, for the most part, they were taught this anti Americanism in American schools and universities." (Harvard's Path From Common Sense And Realism To Postmodernism by Robert Curry). Time: 1922 to 1991. Place: the Soviet Union. Propaganda dominates Soviet universities, shaping students, professors, curriculum and content. Shrines called Lenin's Corners are set up to exalt Lenin and the Soviet state. Red flags hang from every wall as objective knowledge is placed inside dungeons marked ideological indoctrination. The existence of genes and chromosomes is denied because they run counter to the tenets of dialectical materialism which deny the existence of innate, unchanging entities. The Enlightenment belief in the freedom and dignity of the individual is denied in favor of "the collective way of life." In the twenty first century, the Soviet Marxist center is back in business in universities throughout the West. The names, colors and flags have changed, and additions based on race, gender and other ideologies have appeared, but the counterEnlightenment core blazes undiminished.

LOS ANGELES'S MARXIST, MIGRANT, MOLOTOV COCKTAILS

"Everybody endeavored to remove their goods, and fling into the river or bring them into lighters [barges], that lay off; poor people stayed in their houses as long as till the very fire touched them, and then ran into boats, or clambered from one pair of stairs by the waterside to another. People come about me, and I gave them an account which dismayed them all, and the word was carried into the King. So I was called for, and told the King and Duke of York what I saw, and that unless His Majesty commanded houses to be pulled down, nothing could stop the fire. They seemed much troubled, and the King commanded me to go to my Lord Mayor from him and command him to spare no houses, but to pull down before the fire every way." (Samuel Pepys, diary, September 2, 1666). London, England, September 2 to 5, 1666, a firestorm sweeps through the city. Starting in Thomas Farriner's bakery on Pudding Lane, it destroys everything in its path, reduces people and places to smoke and ashes, and transforms the city into a wasteland. The Great Fire of London, engulfing buildings, land and water, is still burning, but the flames have leaped 9000 kilometers, raced down four centuries, and struck Los Angeles, California. On June 6, 2025, the most populous city in America after New York was attacked by the number one axis of subversion in the nation. On this day, the city nicknamed Tinseltown, La La Land and the Entertainment Capital of the World was subjected to a campaign of riots launched by Marxists and their migrant comrades in arms, a campaign which would gut the city, pull it down and burn it to the ground. The Marxist-migrant axis, a branch of a broader global Marxist movement allied with Islam to overthrow Western liberal institutions, commenced riots on June 6 to stop the federal government from removing enemy aliens from the city. The protestors clashed with the Los Angeles Police Department and Immigration and Customs Enforcement, and forced President Donald Trump to deploy the California National Guard and the United States Marine Corps to combat the attacks. Attack. Los Angeles today is a theater of war, under attack by leftist protestors and illegal migrants. Under attack by businesses fabricating documents to employ illegal migrants. Under attack by Marxist rallies convulsing the city center. Under attack by Marxist demonstrators halting law enforcement operations. Under attack by Marxist immigrant advocates spraying vandalism and violence. Under attack by Marxist rioters attacking cars, signs and federal buildings. Under attack by the city's Marxist mayor, Karen Bass, enabling rioters to spread panic and terror in the streets, and giving them a license to plunder and destroy. Under attack by Marxist agents protecting migrant killers, rapists and thieves. Under attack by Marxist assemblers impeding and obstructing the course of civilizational law and order: "Over 40 people were arrested during immigration raids and search warrant executions on Friday in downtown Los Angeles, California, amid standoffs with leftist protesters and US Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) agents. Federal agents served four search warrants and nearly two dozen people were detained outside a Home Depot near MacArthur Park, NBC Los Angeles reported on Friday. The agents also went to two office locations of Ambience Apparel in the downtown area. 'US Attorney Bill Essayli confirmed to NBC Los Angeles Friday that the search warrants were served at the businesses Friday because there’s probable cause that they are using fictitious documents to employ people, the outlet said. Some Los Angeles officials and immigrant advocates were enraged and held protests in response to the law enforcement operations. 'Following one of the rallies, hundreds of demonstrators marched along the streets of downtown LA There was at least one incident of vandalism as a protester sprayed graffiti on the federal building,' the NBC article said. In a social media post on Saturday, the US Department of Homeland Security (DHS) shared video footage of the violent protests and rioting when people spray painted antipolice and ICE sentiments on cars, signs and buildings. 'The violent targeting of law enforcement in Los Angeles by lawless protestors is despicable. These men and women work every day, putting their lives on the line, to protect and defend the lives of American citizens. Mayor Bass, ICE is not responsible for sowing a sense of terror. The protestors YOU enabled are,' the agency wrote. The protesters were trying to thwart officials performing the immigration sweeps, and people were seen throwing eggs and yelling to warn others about the impending raids, per Breitbart News. The outlet said O’Keefe explained that federal agents were executing warrants of people being harbored in the United States illegally, and Bass, a Democrat, denounced the operation. The news comes as several leftwing groups have been monitoring neighborhoods and reporting on social media the locations of ICE agents in an effort to disrupt their work, per Breitbart News. It is important to note that ICE agents in May arrested 239 criminal illegal aliens in Los Angeles, some of whom had been convicted or accused of manslaughter, theft offenses, and aggravated rape of a minor. In a statement regarding Friday's chaos in Los Angeles, FBI Deputy Director Dan Bongino said, 'The right to assemble and protest does not include a license to attack law enforcement officers, or to impede and obstruct our lawful immigration operations.' " (45 Arrested During LA ICE Raids As AntiPolice Leftists Violently Protest by Amy Furr). Attack. Los Angeles today is under attack by promigrationists flying Mexican and Marxist flags. Under attack by a mass migrant invasion. Under attack by foreign nationals assaulting law enforcement. Under attack by violent migrant and Marxist mobs. Under attack by migrant criminals. Under attack by Marxist judges who refuse to recognize reality, refuse to call a spade a spade, and refuse to call a migrant invasion a migrant invasion. Under attack by an influx of migrant refuse. Under attack by foreign criminal gangs. Under attack by national security risks emanating from the distant reaches of the world. Under attack by illegal migrants resisting lawful deportation. Under attack by illegal migrants granted immunity from arrest, prosecution and imprisonment. Under attack by foreign terrorist organizations and domestic terrorist organizations on a mission of civilizational destruction: "The promigration, foreign flag riots in Los Angeles show the United States is facing an aggressive migration that should be recognized by judges as an invasion, deputies to President Donald Trump said. 'One of the main technical issues in the immigration judicial battles is whether Biden's border crisis counted as an invasion,'Vice President JD Vance tweeted. 'So now we have foreign nationals with no legal right to be in the country waving foreign flags and assaulting law enforcement. If only we had a good word for that.' Trump's press secretary, Karoline Leavitt, tweeted, 'In recent days, violent mobs have attacked ICE Officers and Federal Law Enforcement Agents carrying out basic deportation operations in Los Angeles, California. These operations are essential to halting and reversing the invasion of illegal criminals into the United States. These criminals will be arrested and swiftly brought to justice.' The debate over the invasion label is important because Trump is trying to use the special, fast track deportation powers granted by the Alien Enemies Act of of 1798. His overall deportation policy is popular, but several judges have declared that the huge influx of illegal migrants does not add up to an invasion. 'The violent mob assaults on ICE and Federal Law Enforcement are designed to prevent the removal of Criminal Illegal Aliens from our soil; [which is] a dangerous invasion facilitated by criminal cartels (aka Foreign Terrorist Organizations) and a huge NATIONAL SECURITY RISK,' Defense Secretary Pete Hegseth tweeted." (Trump's Deputies: Los Angeles Riots Prove Migrant 'Invasion' by Neil Munro). Attack. Los Angeles today is under attack by illegal migrants who have reduced homeland security, national defense, and immigration and customs enforcement to a dead letter. Under attack by illegal aliens carrying civil unrest to unprecedented levels. Under attack by violent Marxist and migrant mobs. Under attack by the Marxist and migrant enemies of free cities and free nations. Under attack by Marxist and migrant lawlessness. Under attack by migrant criminals whose definition of morality is obedience to the law of the jungle. Under attack by migrant oppressors of decent, law abiding citizens. Under attack by migrant raiders from Latin American jungles. Under attack by the forces of invasion, occupation, riot and insurrection marching under the banners of Eastern crescents, Mexican tricolors and Soviet red stars: "President Donald Trump announced on Truth Social that he has directed the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) and the Department of Defense (DOD) to aid in quelling civil unrest as Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) agents conduct raids in the city of Los Angeles. The president said in a post that the directive will 'liberate Los Angeles' while pledging to expel migrants in the United States illegally. 'A once great American City, Los Angeles, has been invaded and occupied by Illegal Aliens and Criminals. Now violent, insurrectionist mobs are swarming and attacking our Federal Agents to try and stop our deportation operations—But these lawless riots only strengthen our resolve,' the president said. 'I am directing Secretary of Homeland Security Kristi Noem, Secretary of Defense Pete Hegseth, and Attorney General Pam Bondi, in coordination with all other relevant Departments and Agencies, to take all such action necessary to liberate Los Angeles from the Migrant Invasion, and put an end to these Migrant riots. ' " (Trump Directs DHS, DOD To 'Liberate Los Angeles' Amid Riots: 'Illegals Will Be Expelled' by Paul Bois). In November 2024, following the victory of Donald Trump which made the threat of mass deportation of enemy aliens an imminent reality, Los Angeles proclaimed itself to be a sanctuary city. Run by a Marxist mayor, city council and civic establishment, the city outlawed official cooperation with federal immigration authorities. It became a city of refuge for a flow of subhumanity appearing at the gates of civilization from alien lands. It became a gutter for retrograde creatures waving foreign flags. It became a center of international crime and violence. On June 6, as the forces of the law moved in to expunge its migrant underworld, Los Angeles exploded into flames.

COLORADO'S RED CONGREGATIONS CANCEL THE CONSTITUTION

For decades America has had habitual offenders laws on its books. Commonly referred to as three strikes laws, these laws mandate that a person convicted of a violent crime, who has been convicted of two previous violent crimes, receive a punishment of life imprisonment. The purpose of these laws is to deter violent crime and protect the community against persistent violent offenders. In the twenty first century, the state of Colorado has on three occasions violated the United States Constitution in pursuit of a Marxist political agenda, and has proven itself to be a persistent violent offender against the rule of law. In the twenty first century, the state of Colorado has struck three times against the right of free speech, and achieved notoriety throughout the nation and throughout the free world. Each case involves the right of an individual to challenge official Marxist dogmas, and each case has inflicted a black mark on American liberal jurisprudence. Three attempts, three strikes, and Colorado is now out of the community of free speech states, and has joined the enemies of Enlightenment institutions sweeping the West as it spirals into extinction. The number one political and religious movement of our time, collecting hate filled human decay from the sewers of society, has cancelled free speech in Colorado, and its attack on this cherished right of free people, a right recognized for thousands of years since the dawn of civilization, has shown just how sick America and the West have become in the twenty first century. Strike One. Colorado forced the owner of a private cakeshop to express gay messages in violation of his beliefs. It forced a baker, Jack Phillips, owner of Masterpiece Cakeshop, to create a cake for a same sex wedding. It violated the owner's First Amendment rights. It forced the owner to use his artistic talents to express support for the Marxist party line of the twenty first century. Marching under the banners of civil rights and antidiscriminatiion, it violated the civil rights of the owner and forced him to become a servant of a new totalitarian state: "Masterpiece Cakeshop, Ltd., is a Colorado bakery owned and operated by Jack Phillips, an expert baker and devout Christian. In 2012 he told a same sex couple that he would not create a cake for their wedding celebration because of his religious opposition to same-sex marriages—marriages that Colorado did not then recognize—but that he would sell them other baked goods, eg, birthday cakes. The couple filed a charge with the Colorado Civil Rights Commission (Commission) pursuant to the Colorado AntiDiscrimination Act (CADA), which prohibits, as relevant here, discrimination based on sexual orientation in a 'place of business engaged in any sales to the public and any place offering services to the public.' Under CADA's administrative review system, the Colorado Civil Rights Division first found probable cause for a violation and referred the case to the Commission. The Commission then referred the case for a formal hearing before a state Administrative Law Judge (ALJ), who ruled in the couple's favor. In so doing, the ALJ rejected Phillips' First Amendment claims: that requiring him to create a cake for a same sex wedding would violate his right to free speech by compelling him to exercise his artistic talents to express a message with which he disagreed and would violate his right to the free exercise of religion. Both the Commission and the Colorado Court of Appeals affirmed. Held: The Commission's actions in this case violated the Free Exercise Clause." (Masterpiece Bakeshop Ltd versus Colorado Civil Rights Commission, United States Supreme Court, June 4, 2018). Strike Two. Colorado forced the owner of a graphic design business to create websites celebrating marriages to which she is opposed. It forced Lorie Smith, owner of 303 Creative Commons, to create websites celebrating same sex marriages in violation of her belief that marriages are unions between a man and a woman. It forced her to create content violating her conscience and convictions. It forced her to create expressive designs containing messages she disagrees with. It violated her freedom to think and speak without obtaining permission from the state. It transformed private communications companies into public communications companies and into mouthpieces of the state. It assumed control over the marketplace of ideas and forced her to parrot the twenty first century tenets of Marxist gender, race and class politics: "Lorie Smith wants to expand her graphic design business, 303 Creative LLC, to include services for couples seeking wedding websites. But Ms Smith worries that Colorado will use the Colorado AntiDiscrimination Act to compel her—in violation of the First Amendment—to create websites celebrating marriages she does not endorse. To clarify her rights, Ms. Smith filed a lawsuit seeking an injunction to prevent the State from forcing her to create websites celebrating marriages that defy her belief that marriage should be reserved to unions between one man and one woman. CADA prohibits all 'public accommodations' from denying 'the full and equal enjoyment' of its goods and services to any customer based on his race, creed, disability, sexual orientation, or other statutorily enumerated trait. The law defines 'public accommodation' broadly to include almost every public facing business in the State. Either state officials or private citizens may bring actions to enforce the law. And a variety of penalties can follow any violation. Before the district court, Ms Smith and the State stipulated to a number of facts: Ms. Smith is 'willing to work with all people regardless of classifications such as race, creed, sexual orientation, and gender' and 'will gladly create custom graphics and websites" for clients of any sexual orientation; she will not produce content that 'contradicts biblical truth' regardless of who orders it; Ms Smith's belief that marriage is a union between one man and one woman is a sincerely held conviction; Ms. Smith provides design services that are 'expressive' and her 'original, customized' creations 'contribute to the overall message' her business conveys 'through the websites' it creates; the wedding websites she plans to create 'will be expressive in nature,' will be 'customized and tailored' through close collaboration with individual couples, and will 'express Ms Smith's and 303 Creative's message celebrating and promoting' her view of marriage; viewers of Ms Smith's websites 'will know that the websites are her original artwork;' and '[t]here are numerous companies in the State of Colorado and across the nation that offer custom website design services.' Ultimately, the district court held that Ms Smith was not entitled to the injunction she sought, and the Tenth Circuit affirmed. Held: The First Amendment prohibits Colorado from forcing a website designer to create expressive designs speaking messages with which the designer disagrees. The framers designed the Free Speech Clause of the First Amendment to protect the 'freedom to think as you will and to speak as you think.' Boy Scouts of America v. Dale. The freedom to speak is among our inalienable rights. The freedom of thought and speech is 'indispensable to the discovery and spread of political truth.' Whitney v. California. For these reasons, '[i]f there is any fixed star in our constitutional constellation,' West Virginia Bd. of Ed. v. Barnette, it is the principle that the government may not interfere with 'an uninhibited marketplace of ideas,' McCullen v. Coakley." (303 Creative versus Elenis, United States Supreme Court, June 30, 2023). Strike Three. Colorado forced a psychotherapist to refrain from offering conversion therapy to minors unhappy with their same sex attraction or with their gender confusion. It forced Kaley Chiles to parrot the LGBT party line. It forced her control her speech before clients who have engaged her for mental health counseling. It violated the right of free speech by regulating professional words spoken in private offices. It violated the right of private psychotherapists to engage in private conversations with clients. It forced mental health counselors to voice state approved opinions in support of transgenderism and only such opinions. It forced mental health counselors to refrain from telling clients the truth that human gender is determined by sex chromosomes and is innate and immutable, and that socalled transgender females are in fact males and socalled transgender males are in fact females. It forced mental health professionals to renounce their profession, renounce the transmission of science and sanity to their clients, and become activists for the cause of gay, lesbian and transgender politics. It prohibited antiMarxist speech in psychotherapists' offices and forced mental health professionals to step into a straitjacket marked political correctness: "The Supreme Court has agreed to review a Colorado therapist's challenge to her state's law banning mental health care providers from treating minors with unwanted same sex attraction, aka conversion therapy. 'Kaley Chiles, a licensed professional counselor in Colorado Springs, challenged the law in 2022, claiming it interfered with her ability to treat individuals with 'same sex attractions or gender identity confusion' who 'prioritize their faith above their feelings.' 'The court's decision to take up her challenge comes after the justices previously turned away opportunities to weigh in on conversion therapy bans. The case is set to be heard during the Supreme Court's next annual term, which starts in October,' it added. Chiles has claimed she only uses talk therapy on adults seeking counseling for unwanted same sex attraction and minors 'who are internally motivated to seek counseling.' LGBTQ activists have said that such counseling causes psychological harm to minors and should be banned. The state of Colorado has maintained its regulation only extends to professional conduct and in no way violates free speech. 'A professional's treatment of her patients and clients is fundamentally different, for First Amendment purposes, from laypersons' interactions with each other,' Colorado officials said." (Supreme Court To Review Colorado Therapist's Challenge To Conversion Therapy Ban by Paul Bois). State control over business communications, state control over private conversations, state censorship at the workplace and state censorship in the doctor's office. State approved messages flood Colorado and have submerged truth, science and the right of free speech within a rising tide of Marxist lockstep. Colorado's cake bakers, web designers and mental health counselors opposing this tide have been burned at the stake by a new inquisition.

THE DEMOCRATS: AMERICA'S NATIONAL SOCIALIST PARTY

Its full name was the National Socialist German Workers' Party. It stood for racism, ethnonationalism, anticapitalism, antiliberalism and antisemitism. It condemned the traditions and institutions of the Enlightenment in the name of racial segregation, the people's community, the Aryan master race, and the sacrifice of the individual to the state acting on behalf of the people. It was founded in 1920. Its leader was Adolf Hitler, who was the fuhrer of Germany from 1933 to 1945. During Hitler's Third Reich, the party controlled German state was a totalitarian vortex which mauled apart freedom as it launched the Holocaust, a program of racial extermination which saw the mass murder of six million Jews in Europe. In 1945, in the ashes of the Third Reich, while Germany was under Allied occupation, the party was banned. Imposed by the Allies as part of their policy of denazification, the ban was official but was not real, actual, moral or spiritual. For the ideas of national socialism were alive and well and would take wings and migrate. They raced down the decades and landed in the nation which led the Allied fight against Germany during World War II. They landed in the former lighthouse and arsenal of the free world, and in a stark and dramatic illustration of just how sick the West has become in the twenty first century, they set up shop in the United States of America. A branch and development of Marxism, national socialism, in the form of Marxist gender, race and class politics, has captured America as it has captured the West, and in the twenty first century it has become the establishment, religion and mass movement of a civilization in a stage of terminal decline. It rules America on the street, in the classroom, in the corporate boardroom, in courts of law and in the councils of state, and crushes all forms of dissent in its path. It rules the nation's two main political parties but its main seat of party power is a party with a tradition of collectivism, a party which established the American welfare regulatory state under the New Deal administration of Franklin Roosevelt. In the twenty first century, the National Socialist German Workers Party of Germany has been reconstituted in the United States Democrat Party, with only the colors and flags changed. The core and essence of Hitler's ideas are back in business and spreading fear in America's vanishing community of civilized people. A look inside today's Democrat Party is a look inside a beer hall from Hitler's Germany, with the names, faces and documents changed, but the aim, mission and tactics unchanged. Its aim and mission are the collectivization and tribalization of the nation and the destruction of Enlightenment institutions, and its tactics are fraud, force and violence. Spread out on the tables of the Democrat Party beerhall are the pages of its manifesto. They are a Marxist, national socialist declaration of war against everything America stood for at its founding. It stood for the primacy of reason, science, sanity, individual rights and the right to vote in free and fair elections. Listen to the manifesto and hear terrifying evidence for a bill of treason without precedent in the nation's history. The twenty first century Democrat Party manifesto proclaims that a progressive society runs up multitrillion dollar public debts to finance a burgeoning welfare state. A progressive society allows hyperinflation, brought about by government borrowing and creation of money to finance welfare programs, as the price of social responsibility. A progressive society weaponizes the legal system to destroy its enemies. A progressive society allows twelve million illegal aliens to settle in order to dissolve national borders, create a communist mass voting constituency, and set into motion a rampage across free institutions. A progressive society promotes racist and sexist selection procedures and justifies its illegal policies of discrimination in the name of achieving diversity, inclusion, and a special, higher form of fairness, a form transcending ordinary forms of fairness focused on individuals, a form of fairness focused on groups, a form of unfairness called equity. A progressive society is run by diversity, equity and inclusion commissars who mandate racist and sexist selection procedures in every family, home, school and office, and mandate the exclusion of white males. A progressive society is run by Green New Deal activists agitating for the dismantling of industrial and technological civilization in the name of eliminating greenhouse gas emissions and saving the planet from incineration. A progressive society has defunded the police and unlocked the jails in the name of achieving social justice for blacks. A progressive society is run by transgender activists who deny the reality, discovered by science, that human gender is determined by sex chromosomes, and proclaim that gender is not innate but mutable, and proclaim that transgender females are real females and should compete on women's sports teams, and transgender males are real males. A progressive society condemns Donald Trump and his supporters as the reincarnations of Hitler and latter day fascists because they seek to restore some measure of individual freedom in the nation, to rollback diversity, equity and inclusion policies and restore equal opportunity for all, and to seal the nation's borders against an invasion of migrant hordes. A progressive society seeks to destroy Trump by manufacturing stories that he is an agent of Russia and colludes with Russia. It rigged the 2020 presidential election by having the FBI and intelligence authorities falsely label evidence of Joe Biden's influence peddling, contained in Hunter Biden's laptop, as Russian disinformation, and by having them coerce social media platforms such as Facebook into suppressing new stories about Biden's crimes, thereby throwing the election to Biden. A progressive society seeks to destroy Trump by illegally removing his name from ballots without the conviction of a crime and without due process of law. A progressive society seeks to destroy Trump by charging him with fabricated crimes, crimes without constitutional basis, crimes no other public officials have been charged with, crimes which have expired, and by subjecting him to unfair trials based on accusations without evidence. A progressive society seeks to destroy Trump by weaponizing the FBI to attack and ransack his home and violate his right to privacy without probable cause. A progressive society is a gutter of foul language flooding into homes schools, offices and airwaves, and slandering the voices of antiMarxist dissent. A progressive society organizes riots by wealthy communist students at ivy league universities protesting against the capitalist system. A progressive society sanctions racial slurs against whites in the name of protecting free speech but prohibits racial slurs against nonwhites in the name of fighting hate speech. A progressive society sanctions the firebombing of Tesla dealerships on the grounds that Elon Musk seeks to reduce waste and fraud in the American welfare state and allows antiMarxist views on his social media platform. A progressive society exalts Marxist mass murderers as attractive, ideal, glamorous and exciting. A progressive society rigged the 2020 presidential election by manufacturing millions of mail in votes for Joe Biden. A progressive society condemns the opponents of illegal immigration as racists and xenophobes. A progressive society condemns the opponents of diversity, equity and inclusion policies, the opponents of discrimination on the basis of race or sex, as the voices of white power and male oppression. A progressive society condemns the proponents of academic standards and rigor in schools, established by school vouchers, school choice and charter schools, as the voices of white power. A progressive society seeks to eliminate oil, gas and nuclear power, and turn back the clock to precivilizational chaos, in the name of enviromental protection. A progressive society promotes the tenets of critical race theory and critical legal theory, according to which Enlightenment ideas of racial equality, equal opportunity and meritocracy must be criticized from the standpoint of black supremacy and replaced by a black totalitarian dictatorship. A progressive society gives blacks immunity from prosecution and releases all blacks from jail. A progressive society is a Jew hating and Israel hating society because Jews and Israel are symbols of the white supremacist capitalist system. A progressive society condemns liberal democracy as a regime of white supremacy, white privilege and white rage, and has restarted Hitler's gas chambers and thrown in the white population: "Hyperinflation and $7 trillion in new debt, weaponization of the government, and partisan lawfare, an open border and 12 million illegal aliens, a racialist DEI commissariat, a crackpot Green New Deal, defunding the police, biological men competing in girls' sports, and two theater wide wars abroad. Third, without either a functional president or viable initiatives, the new hard left Democrats sought to brand Donald Trump as Hitler and half the country who supported him as fascists. For nearly nine years, the Democrats launched one failed hoax after another on the American people: 'Russian collusion,' 'laptop disinformation,' and the lying socalled '51 intelligence authorities.' They proved quite willing to undermine the rule of law by manipulating the court system in efforts to destroy their bogeyman, Trump. Never had the American people seen a political party engineer 93 bogus indictments of a rival candidate and expresident. Two dozen states tried to take Trump off their presidential ballots. And the Biden Department of Justice sicced an FBI SWAT team to barge into Trump's home. Potty mouthed Democrat videos, the congressional stunts and meltdowns, the pampered rich kids rioting on elite campuses, the knee jerk obsessions with racial slurs, the firebombing of Tesla dealerships, the romanticization of left wing political murderers. Party activists changed long standing voting laws in the key swing states. For the first time in American history, 70 percent of Americans did not vote in person on Election Day—the majority of them by design Democrats." (Democrats And Their DEI Albatrosses by Victor Davis Hansen). The Brown House was the headquarters of the National Socialist German Workers Party. A Munich mansion located between Karolinenplatz and Konigsplatz, it was named after the brown uniforms worn by party members. In January 1945, it was destroyed in an Allied bombing raid and reduced to a heap of rubble. In the twenty first century, 7000 kilometers away from Munich, at 430 South Capital Street, Washington DC, the Brown House has been rebuilt. It has a new name, new colors and new flags, but peddles the tyranny and tribalism of its predecessor. It is the national headquarters of the United States Democrat Party.

THE NEW SOVIET PLANNERS

A financial coach is an expert who helps people financially plan for the future. A coach examines his client's spending habits and helps him reach his goals. He encourages his clients to transcend the range of the moment and determine what they should continue doing and what they need to change. He gives his clients guidance on the proper conduct of their financial lives with the aim of achieving a flourishing, long term, human existence. A financial coach has an inherent commitment to the capitalist system and teaches his clients how to make the best financial use of their freedom. The notion of an anticapitalist financial coach is a contradiction in terms because a financial coach deals with private monetary matters guided by free human choices and calculations of self interest. In a stark and dramatic illustration of just how sick the West has become in the twenty first century, a class of financial coaches has arisen who are dedicated to the destruction of free institutions and the establishment of a Marxist gender, race and class regime in their place. In the twenty first century, the number one political and religious movement of our time, collecting the enviers, haters and human decay from the gutters of society, has swept into the financial world, traditionally a citadel of freedom and capitalism, and transformed its practitioners into the voices of revolution. In the twenty first century, the world of personal financial planning, predicated on capitalist budgets, savings and monetary resources, has issued a manifesto of anticapitalism which has rendered it unrecognizable. In the twenty first century, the Marxist revolution of antiEnlightenment has drafted financial planners in the service of its mission and transformed them into planners for political correctness. The New Soviet Planners. The manifesto for the new class of financial coaches condemns capitalism as a regime of pervasive, unending oppression of women, nonwhites, gays, lesbians, bisexuals, transgenders and the poor. It advocates the elimination of indivdual freedom and the establishment of communist totalitarian regimentation in the name of bisexual, transgender and nonbinary people of color. It advocates a regime of communist money, budgeting, profit and investment in the name of queer and transidentifying individuals. It advocates anticapitalist values in the name of personal well being. It advocates communist finances in the name of workers' liberation. It advocates communist labor, wages and wealth in the name of moral and spiritual survival. It condemns the system of freedom and self responsibility as a source of burnout, depression and anxiety. It condemns freedom as a regime of wage slavery and commodification of labor. It advocates communism in the name of prioritizing people over profits. It condemns freedom as a regime of interpersonal conflicts. It advocates communist budgeting, income and expenses in the name of human compassion. It condemns freedom as a regime in which the rich get richer and the poor get poorer. It advocates communist data analysis in place of empirical data analysis. It advocates communism in the name of protecting mental health. It advocates communism in the name of meeting personal needs and wants. It advocates communism in the name of giving people the freedom to do the things they love and enjoy. It advocates communism in the name of alleviating poverty in the gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender community. It advocates communism in the name of combating discrimination against gays, lesbians, bisexuals and transgenders. It advocates communism in the name of protecting the right of people who claim that sex chromosomes do not exist to obtain medical care to change into the opposite sex. It advocates the overthrow of Enlightenment institutions by an anticapitalist finance movement. It advocates resistance to free institutions and the establishment of a totalitarian, statist economic world. It advocates communism in the name of protecting queer and transgender wealth. It advocates the sacrifice of financial literacy on the altar of communist ideology. It advocates communist financial lectures spewing out vitriol against a free society. It advocates communist financial coaching to teach people how to subvert the capitalist system. It advocates communist financial planning to replace the free choices made by free people. It advocates the sacrifice of financial education on the altar of a communist indoctrination and agitation business. It advocates communist crowdfunding to bankroll communist terror and violence. It advocates communism in the name of economic empowerment of the queer and transgender communities. It advocates the destruction of liberal civilization in the name of protecting transgender surgery, transgender pronouns, transgender pornography and transgender privileges: "Capitalism is an 'oppressive system' that is 'incredibly difficult to survive,' a financial coach said during a recent lecture at Iowa State University. The Anticapitalism Personal Finance Lecture featured Leo Aquino, a 'nonbinary Filipinx writer, journalist, and financial coach' known for 'their commitment to uplifting BIPOC and LGBTQ+ stories,' according to the event description. During the lecture, Aquino advocated for an 'anticapitalist' budgeting approach that encourages people to reframe their relationship with money to prioritize well being over profit, mainly benefiting queer and transidentifying individuals. The speaker defined anticapitalism as 'the belief that financial systems do not need to adhere to capitalist values for us to survive.' An anticapitalist personal finance perspective supports workers' abilities to control their labor and decide how profits are invested. It requires people to redefine their 'definition of wealth,' Aquino said. The speaker encouraged students to stop blaming themselves for their financial situations and start questioning the underlying system. Aquino defined capitalism as 'an economic system where workers are required to sell [their] labor for a wage in order to survive.' The financial coach said this system prioritizes profits over people while causing burnout, depression, and anxiety. '[Capitalism] is an oppressive system profiting from our lack of financial literacy and interpersonal conflicts around money.' Further, capitalism 'necessitates racism, ableism, homophobia, colonialism, and other forms of oppression to perpetuate conflict.' It 'has forced people from marginalized communities to do unrealistic things to survive in an oppressive system,' Aquino said. The speaker contrasted traditional budgeting, defined as a monthly estimate of income and expenses, with anticapitalist budgeting, described as a 'neutral space for us to practice compassionate data analysis.' Aquino said the goal is not 'to make the rich richer' but to 'help others save, budget and spend money in line with their values.' The financial coach also described several means of budgeting, with each depending on one's own personal financial aptitude. One budgeting strategy included using a 'needs vs. wants' model. Aquino said 'some things are needs and wants [at the same time]. Things like makeup and dining out are needs for our mental health.' People should be able to spend quality time eating out with friends without 'thinking so much about the financial consequences of that behavior.' An oppressive capitalist economic system is the cause of this internal conflict, the speaker said. Further, Aquino characterized money as a tool used to navigate capitalism 'with more ease,' adding people don't necessarily want more money, 'they want more freedom to do the things they love and enjoy.' Queer and trans communities in particular benefit the most from anticapitalist finance movements. 'One third of LGBTQ elders live in poverty and cannot afford to retire due to discrimination against their community in the past,' Aquino said. Meanwhile, young trans communities are 'going into debt for gender affirming healthcare due to current legislation.' When an ISU student asked about how this form of financial planning resists capitalism, Aquino said, 'you can only do so much.' Everyone has to be willing to make compromises while still living in a capitalist system. The coach said people must still advocate 'for the changes [they] want to see in the economic world.' 'It is less about resistance and more about coping,' Aquino said. Aquino is the founder of Queer and Trans Wealth, a financial coaching and education business 'dedicated to increasing the financial literacy and economic empowerment of queer and trans communities,' according to its website. The College Fix reached out to Aquino and the university in the last week via email for further comment on the lecture and its contents, but received no response. Aquino's website lists several personal writings, which include titles such as 'How to crowdfund your gender affirming surgery,' 'How to share your pronouns,' and 'How to make your own porn.' " (Capitalism Fuels 'Racism,' Is 'Difficult To Survive': Iowa State U Lecture by Hanna Bechtel).

The New Soviet Planners. The manifesto for the new class of financial coaches proclaims that the only moral financial advisors are religiously committed communists. It advocates the accumulation of wealth in the service of communist revolution. It advocates communism in the name of consumer financial protection. It advocates communism in the name of a fair and equitable society: "Some might assume a devout socialist would find little joy in the ubercapitalistic world of financial planning, where the focus is often around participating in the financial markets to amass wealth and secure independence. But that's not how Zach Teutsch sees it--and he doesn't hold back when explaining why. The founder of Values Added Financial who describes himself as a 'socialist financial adviser,' Teutsch said the success of his niche advisory practice is proof socialists aren't always averse to accumulating some wealth as long as they can still fight the good fight against capitalism in general toward a more fair and equitable society." (A Socialist Adviser Helps Far Left Clients Accumulate Wealth While Fighting For Financial Fairness by Jeff Benjamin). On a 1972 Soviet postage stamp is the face of Gleb Krzhizhanovsky, first head of Gosplan. Founded on February 22, 1921 by a decree of the Council of People's Commissars, the Soviet State Planning Committee was in charge of creating and carrying five year plans for the economy. This agency of totalitarian economic control was dissolved on April 1, 1991 nine months before the dissolution of the Soviet Union. In the twenty first century, the old totalitarians are back in business. Advocating communism in the name of race, class, human happiness and making the world a better place, the new Soviet planners have set up shop in the West and outlawed freedom in their portfolios.

TARGET: HARVEY WEINSTEIN

Southern trees bear a strange fruit,/Blood on the leaves and blood at the root./Black bodies swinging in the Southern breeze,/Strange fruit hanging from the poplar trees. (Strange Fruit by Abel Meeropol). Lynching. The public killing of an individual without due process of law under the pretext of justice. Lynching. Violent public acts by which whites terrorized blacks in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries in America, acts in which victims were tortured, mutilated, decapitated, desecrated and burned alive. Lynchings involved an accusation, an arrest, the assembly of a mob, and the seizure, torment and murder of the victim. They were public spectacles and celebrations of white supremacy, and photographs were taken of them and sold as souvenir postcards. In the twenty first century, the lynchers are back in business with only the targets changed. The lynchers have been brought back to life by an offshoot of the number one mass movement and religion of our time. Collecting the enviers, haters and human decay from the moral sewers of society, Marxism metasticized in the twentieth century into race and gender movements, and a monster known as gender, race and class politics has been on a rampage ever since. In the twenty first century, the gender offshoot of Marxism has invaded the legal system and weaponized it against men. In the twenty first century, radical femnism has transformed police stations, prosecutors' offices and courts of law into venues for the legal lynching of men accused of sexual assault, and rendered the traditional Western liberal commitment to justice, fairness and due process of law a dead letter. American film producer, founder of the Entertainment company Mirimax, and winner of multiple Academy Awards and Tony Awards, Harvey Weinstein has been the focal point of the radical feminist lynching of men because of his position of power and influence. His lynching commenced with the MeToo social media campaign in 2017 and has intensified since that time, seeing prosecutions, convictions and jail sentences for crimes he never committed, and transforming courtrooms into political soapboxes targeting men for destruction. Item. Harvey Weinstein was convicted of sexually assaulting women who had social relations with him, including consensual sex, for years after the alleged assaults. The accusers asked him to help advance their careers and never in any communications with him or with others alleged they were victims of sexual assault. The accusers waited decades before making their allegations: "Some 20 years after the earliest incidents were alleged to have taken place, [Arthur] Aidala sought to cast doubt on the credibility of the accusers. He said it was not a question of whether his client engaged in sexual relations with the three women, but that those encounters were consensual. He described the encounters as 'transactional' and 'casting couch' scenarios involving young women who used their beauty and charm to make an older man open doors for them. Weinstein was the one they used, he argued, countering prosecutors who portrayed Weinstein as an all powerful Hollywood figure. Aidala loudly reeled off metaphors to explain his version of events, seeking to win over the jury with jokes. He mimicked the victims to highlight inconsistencies, likening one of them to a child caught in a lie. The veteran defense attorney stressed that victims continued to associate with Weinstein after the alleged assaults, something they did not dispute, explaining that they feared jeopardizing their careers." (Harvey Weinstein Lawyer Brands Accusers 'Women With Broken Dreams' Breitbart News, June 4, 2025). Item. Harvey Weinstein was convicted of sexual assault by a jury which had rejected the legal standard requiring logical certainty or proof beyond a reasonable doubt. He was convicted on the basis of mass accusations made without evidence of any kind. He was convicted by jurors who had intimidated other jurors into voting guilty. He was convicted by a global MeToo movement whose mission is to lock up as many men as possible on the basis of uncorroborated sexual assault allegations: "Tensions flared again Monday among jurors in the sex crimes retrial of disgraced Hollywood mogul Harvey Weinstein, raising the risk of a deadlocked jury and a mistrial. As court proceedings resumed Monday morning in the New York courtroom, Judge Curtis Farber read aloud two notes sent to him by the 12 member jury deliberating behind closed doors. In the first note, a juror expressed a desire to talk to Farber 'about the situation that isn't very good.' In the second, jurors wrote they 'request the entire definition of reasonable doubt and rules of the jury especially to avoid a hung jury.' A hung jury occurs when a judge acknowledges that jurors have been unable to reach a unanimous decision after several days of deliberations. In that case, a mistrial is declared and a new trial may be held. On Monday morning, Weinstein, whose downfall in 2017 sparked the global #MeToo movement, looked on impassively from his wheelchair, as the judge, prosecutors and his lawyers engaged in tense discussions. The jury must decide whether Weinstein—accused by dozens of women of being a sexual predator—is guilty of sexual assaults in 2006 on Haley and former model Kaja Sokola, and of rape in 2013 of then aspiring actress Jessica Mann. Weinstein is on trial again after a New York state appeals court threw out his 2020 convictions, citing irregularities in the original proceedings. The former movie industry titan's 23 year prison sentence for the initial conviction was thrown out, but he remains imprisoned for separate offenses. On Friday, one juror came forward to report tensions between his fellow panelists, alleging 'people are being shunned. It's playground stuff.' He asked to resign as a juror, but Farber denied his request." (Tensions Flare Up Among Jurors In Weinstein Rape Retrial, Breitbart News, June 9, 2025). Item. Harvey Weinstein was convicted of sexual assault by blatantly illegal juror conduct. He was convicted by jurors who had attacked other jurors who voted for acquittal. He was convicted by jurors who had made other jurors who voted for acquittal too afraid to return to the jury room. He was convicted by jurors who had threatened violence against other jurors who voted for aquittal. He was convicted by jurors who had screamed at other jurors who voted for acquittal. He was convicted by testimony from accusers whose accusations were not part of the charges brought against him and went beyond those charges. He was convicted by multiple accusers at multiple trials, marked one and all by lack of evidence for alleged sex crimes decades old: "A New York judge declared a mistrial on a rape charge in Harvey Weinstein's sex crimes trial after one juror refused to continue deliberations over an alleged attack in 2013 on actress Jessica Mann. A panel of seven female and five male jurors deliberated for six days in the six week trial before one juror on Thursday declined to continue discussions. Deliberations in the trial were plagued with tensions. The jury foreperson brought concerns to the judge earlier this week, saying jurors were 'attacking' one another and trying to change his mind. On Wednesday, he brought more complaints to the judge, indicating that 'at least one other juror made comments to the effect of 'I'll meet you outside one day,' and there's yelling and screaming,' Judge Curtis Farber told the court. On Thursday, the foreperson said he would not go back to the jury room to deliberate because he was afraid of others yelling at him, so the judge declared a mistrial on the last rape charge. 'Sometimes jury deliberations become heated. I understand this particular deliberation was more heated than some others,' Judge Farber told the 12 person jury, according to US media. In a statement, a Weinstein spokesperson said his team believed the conviction would be 'set aside' due to 'gross juror misconduct.' 'Eight years, dozens of accusers, three trials, one conviction,' spokesperson Juda Engelmayer said. 'Harvey is disappointed in the single verdict, but hasn't loss faith or the heart to continue fighting to clear his name.' An appeals court overturned Weinstein's previous conviction for sex crimes in New York last April, finding the 73 year old did not receive a fair trial in 2020 because a judge allowed testimony from women who made allegations against him beyond the charges at hand" (Mistrial Declared On Rape Charge In Weinstein Case After Juror Won't Return To Jury Room by Madeline Halpert). Item. Harvey Weinstein was convicted of sexual assault by jurors who had instilled fear in the jury room and transformed it into a chamber of violence other jurors who voted for acquittal, and made them too afraid to deliberate. He was convicted by jurors who had treated other jurors who voted for acquittal as specimens of subhumanity unworthy of human dignity or respect. He was convicted by jurors who had threatened other jurors who voted for acquittal with the use of force on the streets. He was convicted by jurors who had poisoned the jury room with irrelevant vitriol against him. He was convicted by jurors who had screamed at other jurors who voted for acquittal that he must be convicted of sex crimes on purely political grounds without regard to the evidence or lack thereof: "The judge in Harvey Weinstein ’s sex crimes case declared a mistrial on the remaining rape charge after the jury foreperson said he wouldn’t continue deliberating. Jury room strains started leaking into public view Friday, when a juror asked to be excused because he felt another was being treated unfairly. Then Monday, the foreperson complained that other jurors were pushing people to change their minds and talking about information beyond the charges. The man raised concerns again Wednesday. In a closed door discussion with prosecutors, defense lawyers and the judge, the foreperson said another juror was yelling at him for sticking to his opinion and at one point vowed, 'You going to see me outside.' 'I feel afraid inside there,' the foreperson told the judge and attorneys, according to a transcript." (Judge Declares Mistrial on Final Harvey Weinstein Rape Charge After Heated Jury Deliberations, Breitbart News, June 12, 2025). Emmett Louis Till, July 25, 1941- August 28, 1955. A fourteen year old black American youth who was lynched in Mississippi in 1955 by a white mob because a white woman had made a false allegation of sexual assault against him. Floating down the Tallahatchie River was the shot, beaten, bloated, mutilated body of a victim of hatred. Convicted of sexual assault on the basis of an accusation or a mass of accusations in the manner of the witch trials of yesteryear, convicted on the basis of testimony from accusers who had waited decades before making their accusations, and convicted on the basis of testimony from accusers who had consensual sexual relations with him after the alleged assaults, Harvey Weinstein is the face of the radical feminist campaign of destruction of men. He is the twenty first century face of Emmett Till.

FORMER PRESIDENTS FIGHT FOR MARXISM

The right to silence is a legal principle which guarantees to an individual the right to refuse to answer questions from law enforcement officers or court officials. It includes the right to avoid self incrimination and the right not to have adverse influences drawn by a judge or jury regarding one's refusal to answer questions. The right has been enshrined in civilized societies the world over and appears in Roman law as the principle that no man is bound to accuse himself. In the field of politics, the situation is the diametrical opposite. In the field of politics, there is no right to silence, and people who remain silent in the face of evil are said to have given their sanction to it. In the field of politics, silence means consent and public officials who refuse to speak out against immoral, unjust or unconstitutional acts are complicitous with them. Commencing on June 6, 2025 and lasting up to the present, mass riots against the deportation of illegal aliens have engulfed Los Angeles, and the city has gone up in flames before a campaign of insurrection launched by a coalition of illegal aliens and their Marxist and Muslim comrades in arms. The skies over Los Angeles have been blackened by a blanket of arson, looting, violence and obstruction, and the coalition ranged against Immigration and Customs Enforcement has pushed law and order in the city into the dustbin of history. In the face of Los Angeles's civilizational collapse, the former presidents of the United States, the preeminent faces of the nation's political establishment, have remained silent. Their silence betokens consent to the forces of Marxist, Mexican and Muslim insurrection. On January 6, 2021, another attempted insurrection in America was launched. At the United States Capital Building in Washington DC, a mass of citizens sought to prevent a joint session of Congress from counting Electoral College votes to formalize the fraudulent victory of Joe Biden. They sought to prevent the certification of an election which made Joe Biden the winner through eighty million computer generated votes. They sought to prevent the certification of an election which made Joe Biden the winner through illegal changes made to election procedures, changes made without the approval of state legislatures or the federal Congress, as mandated by Article I, Section 4, Clause 1 of the United States Constitution. On the day of the attempted insurrection, former Presidents Bill Clinton, George Bush and Barack Obama issued public condemnations of the action, calling an insurrection attempt staged to restore the right to vote in free and fair elections an "attack on our democratic values." Silence. On June 6, 2025 and thereafter, the four former Presidents of the United States, Bill Clinton, George Bush, Barack Obama and Joe Biden, in the face of a Marxist-Mexican-Muslim insurrection staged in Los Angeles to protect illegal aliens, chose to remain silent. They issued no public statements condemning the savage jungle into which the city had descended. In the face of violent demonstrators waving Palestinian flags, chanting infida or uprising against Israel, capitalism and the West, they chose to remain silent. In the face of violent Islamic and Marxist ideological protests against ICE raids against illegal aliens, they chose to remain silent. In the face of radical hoodlums assaulting Jews, Israelis and law enforcement officers, they chose to remain silent. In the face of the rhetoric and reality of Palestinian terror, they chose to remain silent. In the face of violent Palestinian activists confronting ICE agents seeking to cleanse residential, commercial and downtown areas of invaders from foreign lands, they chose to remain silent. In the face of masked murderers wearing keffiyehs, carrying Palestinian flags, setting fire to cars, bombing buildings, fighting the police and spreading fear in the streets, they chose to remain silent. In the face of Marxists, Mexicans and Muslims torching American flags and pledging allegiance to Mexico, they chose to remain silent. In the face of an axis power comprised of Marxists, Mexicans and Muslims targeting Israel, America and the West, they chose to remain silent. In the face of freeways blocked by Palestinian banners, brawlers and debris, they chose to remain silent. In the face of a Marxist-Mexican-Muslim assault on riot police, they chose to remain silent. In the face of Palestinian slogans defacing city property and Palestinian grafitti sprayed in the eyes of the people, they chose to remain silent. In the face of signs declaring war on America and Israel in the name of domestic radicalism, domestic Marxism and Eastern Islam, they chose to remain silent. In the face of messages in support of antiEnlightenment ideologies advocating human enslavenment in the name of the Prophet or the Proletariat, they chose to remain silent. In the name of calls for revolution under the flags of the Red Crescent, the Mexican tricolor and the Soviet Hammer and Sickle, flags condemning Western liberal democracy as their common enemy, they chose to remain silent. In the face of Marxist, Mexican and Muslim headbands shouting out terror, they chose to remain silent. In the face of Marxist, Mexican and Muslim emblems spelling out world revolution, they chose to remain silent. In the face of radical, antiliberal, anticapitalist, antisemitic symbols, they chose to remain silent. In the face of Marxist, Mexican and Muslim activism against the free societies, they chose to remain silent. In the face of Marxist, Mexican and Muslim campus networks of subversion, they chose to remain silent. In the face of Marxist, Mexican and Muslim youth coalitions spreading crime and chaos, they chose to remain silent. In the face of online hate propaganda directed against Jews, Israel and the West, they chose to remain silent. In the face of a campaign to spread Palestinian terror attacks into every nation on earth, they chose to remain silent. In the face of viral posts defending illegal aliens and violence against ICE agents in the name of Palestinian rights, they chose to remain silent. In the face of condemnations of Israel, America and the West as common oppressors of Marxists, Mexicans and Muslims, they chose to remain silent. In the face of the Marxist, Mexican and Muslim campaign to exterminate Jews throughout the world, they chose to remain silent. In the face of the Marxist, Mexican and Muslim condemnation of capitalism as a regime of Western colonial oppression, they chose to remain silent. In the face of the Marxist, Mexican and Muslim condemnation of global liberalism as a Western colonial empire, they chose to remain silent. In the face of domestic terror symbols and foreign terror symbols, domestic confrontational language and foreign confrontational language, domestic radical movements and foreign radical movements, and national and international campaign to escalate radical violence and forcibly overthrow the West, they chose to remain silent. "Demonstrators in Los Angeles and other major cities waved Palestinian flags and chanted for an intifada as protests over ICE raids spiraled into organized violence and ideological unrest. Violent protests that erupted in response to federal immigration raids across Los Angeles last weekend have taken on a distinctly radical tone, with footage showing rioters not only targeting law enforcement but openly invoking militant Palestinian rhetoric and terrorist imagery. While the initial trigger was a wave of ICE arrests across residential and commercial areas, the unrest quickly shifted into something broader. In several confrontations downtown, masked individuals draped in keffiyehs and hoisting Palestinian banners led aggressive actions—igniting vehicles, hurling improvised explosives, and clashing with riot police. As protesters torched American flags and pledged allegiance to Mexico, widely shared videos captured chants of intifada—a term historically tied to violent uprisings in the Middle East—accompanied by signs that targeted US immigration enforcement and Western alliances with Israel. One video showed a freeway blocked by a crowd holding a large Palestinian banner while debris was thrown at patrol cars below. In another, graffiti featuring proPalestinian slogans defaced city property. Protesters carried signs combining antiAmerican and antiIsrael messages, signaling a convergence between domestic radical groups and foreign ideological causes. One keffiyeh wrapped protester called for 'revolution,' claiming a 'common enemy' unites Palestinian militants and US demonstrators. Others were seen wearing red headbands and terrorist insignias. In similar scenes elsewhere, including in New York, protests mirrored the same radical symbolism. Activist organizations known for their antiIsrael activism—such as campus networks and youth coalitions— amplified the unrest online, urging their base to treat the protests as part of a wider effort to export the violent Palestinian uprising globally. Isra Hirsi, daughter of Representative Ilhan Omar (D-MN), shared a viral post linking ICE enforcement to the Gaza conflict, while declaring, 'From LA to Rafah, there is one common oppressor—Death to the colonial empire.' Her statement echoed the protests' broader theme of portraying both the US and Israel as colonial regimes which need to be forcefully overthrown. Despite the overt presence of foreign terrorist symbols and militant rhetoric, mainstream media outlets have largely sidestepped the ideological nature of the protests, focusing coverage on ICE policies and police tactics. The escalation marks a stark warning about how international radical movements are now shaping unrest on American soil." (Keffiyehs, 'Intifada' Cries, And Firebombs: Palestinian Symbols, Violent Chants Mark Anti ICE Riots Nationwide by Joshua Klein). America's former presidents have traditionally been esteemed as elder statesmen, unwavering defenders of the Constitution and the nation's founding ideals, and experienced, respected leaders giving advice to the new generation. Refusing to condemn the waves of death and destruction currently rolling across Los Angeles and points north, south, east and west, America's former presidents have disgraced their positions and become establishment partisans for political violence.

MARXIST SLAUGHTER IN MINNESOTA

He was wearing a halloween mask and impersonating a police officer. On the early morning of June 14, 2025, Vance Luther Boelter entered the home of Minnesota State Representative Melissa Hortman and her husband Mark and opened fire, killing them both. As the blood of the victims ran down the floor of their Brooklyn Park home, police found a massive stack of flyers in the assassin's car. This stack fired the bullets which killed Melissa Hortman and her husband. The stack contained papers with the word*s No Kings* written on them. The words referred to nationwide demonstrations held on June 14, involving millions of people in 2000 events in 2000 cities in every state in the union, opposing Donald Trump. Organized by the American Federation of Teachers and the Communications Workers of America, the largest protests against Trump since the start of his second term condemned him as a tyrant and an absolute monarch because he defied the Marxist agenda embraced by one half of the nation's electorate. At the No Kings protests, one half of the electorate condemned Trump because he challenged Marxist lawmakers, activists and union leaders across the nation. Because he challenged people waving Marxist flags superimposed on American flags and reducing them to ashes. Because he championed individual freedom and self responsibility, held by Marxists to violate people's democracy. Because he sought to reduce health care entitlements subsidized on the basis of robbing Peter to pay Paul. Because he upheld the rule of law and deported thousands of illegal aliens from Los Angeles, and deployed National Guard soldiers to quell city wide riots against the deportations, in the face of protests from the state's Marxist governor, Gavin Newsom, and the city's Marxist mayor, Karen Bass. Because he has turned back the tide of dangerous criminals invading from foreign lands. Because he has challenged the Marxist claim that the deportation of illegal aliens is a violation of civil rights, and sought to defend the nation's borders against armies of predatory animals at war with civilization: "Protests against President Donald Trump have taken place in towns and cities across the US, organized by a group called No Kings. The demonstrations were held to counter a rare military parade hosted by Trump in Washington DC, and came after days of protests in Los Angeles and elsewhere over his immigration policies. Lawmakers, union leaders and activists gave speeches in cities including New York, Philadelphia and Houston to crowds waving American flags and placards critical of Trump. The military parade on Saturday evening, also Trump's birthday, was timed to celebrate the 250th anniversary of the US Army. Organizers said there were hundreds of protests with millions of participants. In Philadelphia, people gathered in Love Park. 'I just feel like we need to defend our democracy,' Karen Van Trieste, a 61 year old nurse, told the Associated Press. She said Trump's staffing cuts to public health agencies were one of the reasons why she turned out. One of the larger crowds was in Los Angeles where leaders and law enforcement have been on high alert during days of protests, sometimes violent, against a series of deportation raids. 'Trump sent in the state's National Guard a week ago against the wishes of Governor Gavin Newsom and to the anger of local officials. On Saturday, Jose Azetcla, a member of the civil rights group the Brown Berets, told the BBC in Los Angeles that it was immigration that brought him out on to the streets. 'It's not harsh, it's evil. You don't separate families,' he said. There were confrontations between protesters and National Guard soldiers near the Federal Building and tear gas was fired to disperse the crowds. But a block or two away, hundreds of protesters continued marching peacefully. Despite the largest outpouring of protests since Trump was re-elected, opinion polls indicate his immigration policies remain broadly popular with the public. A CBS/YouGov survey last week found 54% of Americans approved of his policy to deport immigrants who are in the US illegally--46% disapproved. A plurality of Americans (42%) said Trump's program was making them safer and 53% said he was prioritizing the deportation of dangerous criminals. The No Kings name of the protests refers to criticism that Trump has overstepped the limits of presidential power in his second term. Some of the No Kings demonstrations in the state of Minnesota were canceled by organizers after flyers for the event were found in the car of the man accused of fatally shooting a state politician and her husband." (Mass Protests Against Trump Across US As President Holds Military Parade by Bernd Debusmann, John Sudworth and Kayla Epstein). At the No Kings protests, one half of the electorate condemned Trump because he challenged Marxist demonstrators convulsing streets, parks, plazas, downtowns, uptowns, small towns and big towns across the nation. Because he challenged Marxist propaganda which defends the abolition of national borders in the name of the progressive majority and immigrant rights. Because he challenged the million person Marxist army taking control of America. Because he challenged Marxist mobs attacking Immigrations and Customs Enforcement buildings. Because he challenged Marxist marches, dances, cheers, chants, songs and drumbeats shattering streets from New York to Denver to Chicago to Austin to Los Angeles. Because he challenged Marxist rallies smashing through barriers and filling squares and stadiums beyond capacity. Because he challenged mobs in rural towns and capital cities flying Marxist and Mexicans flags calling for world revolution, and seeking to turn the nation upside down. Because he challenged Marxist rioters blocking cars and freeways and setting them on fire. Because he challenged Marxist propaganda equating liberty with slavery, capitalism with oligarchy, and statesmen who seek to make America great again by making it free again with Hitler and Mussolini. Because he challenged Marxist speaker systems blasting out the harsh sounds of subversion. Because he challenged Marxist propaganda equating free societies with confidence rackets and frauds on the proletariat. Because he challenged Marxist propaganda defending open borders and illegal migration in the name of achieving the American dream. Because he challenged Marxist propaganda defending the settlement of alien invaders in the name of achieving American success. Because he challenged Marxist and Native American percussionists pounding out messages of primitive tribal politics. Because he challenged Marxist protest signs demanding America's Constitution and Enlightenment institutions be burned to the ground. Because he challenged Marxist agitators spreading fear in the streets. Because he challenged Marxist demonstrators engulfing neighborhoods in danger. Because he challenged Marxist occupations of City Halls. Because he challenged Marxist and Mexican flag bearers burning down America. Because he challenged Marxist propaganda equating free societies with fascist societies. Because he challenged Marxist propaganda condemning capitalism as a regime of oppression of women, blacks, latinos, gays, lesbians, transgenders and the poor: "Masses of demonstrators packed into streets, parks and plazas across the United States on Saturday to protest President Donald Trump, marching through downtowns and small towns, blaring antiauthoritarian chants mixed with support for protecting democracy and immigrant rights. Organizers of the No Kings demonstrations said millions had marched in hundreds of events. Governors across the US had urged calm and vowed no tolerance for violence, while some mobilized the National Guard ahead of marchers gathering. Police in Los Angeles, where protests over federal immigration enforcement raids erupted a week earlier and sparked demonstrations across the country, used tear gas and crowd control munitions to clear out protesters after the formal event ended. Officers in Portland also fired tear gas and projectiles to disperse a crowd that protested in front of a US Immigration and Customs Enforcement building well into the evening. Huge, boisterous crowds marched, danced, drummed, and chanted shoulder to shoulder in New York, Denver, Chicago, Austin and Los Angeles, some behind No Kings banners. Atlanta's 5,000 capacity event quickly reached its limit, with thousands more gathered outside barriers to hear speakers in front of the state Capitol. Officials in Seattle estimated that more than 70,000 people attended the city's largest rally downtown, the Seattle Times reported. About 200 protesters assembled in northwest Washington's Logan Circle and chanted 'Trump must go now' before erupting in cheers. A larger than life puppet of Trump—a caricature of the president wearing a crown and sitting on a golden toilet—was wheeled through the crowd. In some places, organizers handed out little American flags while others flew their flags upside down, a sign of distress. Mexican flags, which have become a fixture of the Los Angeles protests against immigration raids, also made an appearance at some demonstrations Saturday. The demonstrations come on the heels of the protests over the federal immigration enforcement raids that began last week and Trump ordering the National Guard and Marines to Los Angeles, where protesters blocked a freeway and set cars on fire. 'Today, across red states and blue, rural towns and major cities, Americans stood in peaceful unity and made it clear: we don't do kings,' the No Kings Coalition said in a statement Saturday afternoon after many events had ended. Thousands gathered downtown, where organizers handed out small American flags and people carried protest signs saying 'fight oligarchy' and 'deport the miniMussolinis.' " (AntiTrump Demonstrators Crowd Streets, Parks And Plazas Across The US. Organizers Say Millions Came by Marc Levy, Claudia Lauer and Jim Vertuno). On June 10, 2025, the Minnesota State Legislature passed a bill barring illegal aliens from receiving publicly funded health care. Representative Melissa Hortman, member of the far left Democratic Farmer Labor Party, crossed party lines, voted with Republicans, and cast the decisive vote to pass bill. She explained her decision: "I did what leaders do, I stepped up and I got the job done for the people of Minnesota." On June 14, 2025, Representative Hortman and her husband paid with their lives for this vote against the Marxist order of the nation.

LOS ANGELES MAYOR MAKES WAR AND REVOLUTION

It was founded on May 12, 1789 and named after Tamanend, chief of the Lenape Indian tribe in northeastern United States. The name was Anglicized to Tammany, and Tammany Hall in turn became an alternate spelling for political corruption in America. Tammany Hall was the political machine of the New York Democrat Party and for over two centuries it controlled New York City and State politics. Graft, patronage, ward heelers and Boss Tweed: these were the wheels powering an organization of lawlessness without equal in the history of the nation, fueling public malfeasance without peer until its dissolution in the mid 1960s. In the twenty first century, 4600 kilometers away from New York, Tammany Hall has been reconstiuted and is back in business. In the twenty first century, Boss Tweed has returned and rules the most populous city in America after New York, and has brought his new city into levels of corruption never before seen in its history. In the twenty first century, Boss Tweed has become the mayor of Los Angeles, and in the person of Karen Bass has established the nation's number one rogue city. This time around, six decades after the demise of Tammany Hall, the character of the corruption has changed. It is the corruption brought by the number one religion and mass movement of our time. Galvanizing the enviers, haters and dregs of human society, people for whom freedom is a tyrannical burden and the Enlightenment is the voice of oppression of women, nonwhites and the poor, Marxism has been serving in office as the forty third mayor of Los Angeles, serving since December 12, 2022, and has rendered Tinseltown, the City of Angels and the Entertainment Capital of the World unrecognizable. A look at Karen Bass is a look into the moral sewers flowing through the West today, and a look into the mass directed, mass mandated, mass voted and mass acclaimed collapse of civilization. Mayor Bass. In the DEI order ruling the West, justifying race and gender discrimination in the name of achieving diversity, equity and inclusion, Karen Bass is a paradigm, checking boxes marked black, female and communist. She is an incendiary igniting communist conflagrations and riots. She is an unabashed supporter of communism and the late communist dictator Fidel Castro. She has run up a billion dollar public debt financing communist programs and policies. She has sought to defund and dismantle the police. She is a communist sympathizer, supporter, conduit and committer of treason. She has spread communist agitation and disturbances. She is the voice of a communist constituency composing, along with other mass religions such as Islam, the final chapter of the West: "In August 2020, after considering several prominent Democrats for the position of vice president on his ticket, presidential candidate Biden selected word salad expert Kamala Harris. As a female and a minority member, she met his DEI requirements. But another DEI candidate making his shortlist was Karen Bass–the current mayor of LA. Setting aside the leadership incompetence that Bass has exhibited both in dealing with the wildfires that impacted LA earlier and the current riots, most disconcerting is that Bass has, for decades, held an established record as an open communist sympathizer and supporter of the late Cuban dictator Fidel Castro. That anyone with such a background would even be considered as a potential vice presidential candidate is outrageous. Undeterred by her nonselection, Bass has continued to hold on to her far left and communist leaning beliefs. It is no wonder the city today is a mess, as evidenced by its debt of nearly one billion dollars,an undermanned police force, and social unrest—just the kind of influences upon which communism relies to tighten its grip. Accordingly, the FBI is now investigating reports that the LA riots are being funded by the Chinese Communist Party and other groups with communist links. Saddening is the fact that the turmoil LA residents are suffering has been self inflicted—the result of voters answering the call of a communist sympathizer to lead their city." (Answering Communism's Siren Call by James Zumwalt).

Mayor Bass. Karen Bass exalts illegal aliens and condemns raids by Immigration and Customs Enforcement agents to remove them from Los Angeles. She exalts collaboration, cooperation and friendly diplomatic relations with communist nations. She exalts communist riots, violence and chaos against the ICE raids. She exalts illegal mass migration in order to increase her communist constituency. She seeks to import millions of communist illegal aliens and prevent their deportation. She exalts the communist state and economy and is opposed to the security and prosperity enjoyed by free people. She exalted the late Fidel Castro as the commander in chief of the progressive people's republic of communism in Cuba. She exalts members of the Communist Party USA as her friends and mentors. She exalts communist parties as progressive parties. She exalts communist officials as beacons of hope, voices of justice, mountain peaks of moral elevation and fighters to make the world a better place. She exalts communist totalitarianism as the people's government of liberation. She s exalts communist committees, education, newspapers and destruction of civilization: "Los Angeles Mayor Karen Bass is facing heightened scrutiny from President Donald Trump for her handling of the antiICE riots gripping the city, which follows a history of political scandals and criticisms across her decades as an elected official, Fox News Digital has learned. Bass, who was sworn in as mayor in 2022, is under fire after denouncing immigration raids that began in LA on Friday, when federal law enforcement officials converged on the city, sparking protest that soon devolved into violence and chaos. Trump administration officials have since argued that Democratic rhetoric denouncing the immigration raids, while simultaneously offering messages of support to illegal immigrants residing in the nation, emboldened protesters, which led to the riots. 'Newsom and his stooge Karen Bass fomented and encouraged the riots, because their entire political movement exists for one purpose: to promote mass migration into our country,' Vice President JD Vance wrote on X on Tuesday. 'It is their reason for being. Democratic leadership has no solution for the economy, for prosperity, or for security. They use their power when they're in the majority to import millions of illegal immigrants and when they're in opposition they do everything possible to prevent deportations.' As Bass was floated as a top contender to join former President Joe Biden as his running mate during the 2020 election, multiple news reports parsed Bass' past comments on communist leaders, including lamenting Communist Cuban dictator Fidel Castro's death in 2016 in a statement. 'I wish to express my condolences to the Cuban people and the family of Fidel Castro. The passing of the Comandante en Jefe is a great loss to the people of Cuba. I hope together, our two nations will continue on the new path of support and collaboration with one another, and continue in the new direction of diplomacy,' she said in a statement after his death.

Comandante en Jefe translates to 'commander in chief.' Bass again raised political eyebrows in 2020 for her praise of communists after Politico resurrected her 2017 remarks eulogizing one of the top members of the Communist Party USA in 2017, including calling him a 'friend and mentor' in remarks inserted in congressional record. 'I would like to honor the life and memory of my friend and mentor, Oneil Marion Cannon, who passed away on January 20, days before his 100th birthday,' Bass wrote of Oneil Cannon. The comments did not mention that Cannon was a top leader of the Communist Party USA, identifying him instead as being 'deeply involved in politics' and that he belonged to the Independent Progressive Party. 'I would like to salute Oneil Cannon for his longstanding commitment to serving and uplifting others, and for a century of fighting to make the world a better place,' she added. An obituary published in the communist founded newspaper, People's World, reported that Cannon was a 'longtime communist' who served as the Communist Party USA's 'education director in the Southern California District, and a member of the Party's Southern California and National Central Committees.' " (Mayor Karen Bass's Handling of LA Riots Adds To Decades Of Political Baggage by Emma Colton). Mayor Bass. Condemning capitalism as a regime of discrimination against women, nonwhites and the poor, Karen Bass exalts the settlement of illegal migrants and opposes the deployment of the National Guard to suppress communist riots against their deportation. She exalts communist violence against ICE and the National Guard seeking to remove illegal aliens and uphold the rule of law. She exalts the Venceremos Brigade, an international communist organization promoting solidarity with Cuba and world communist revolution. She exalts communist protests, policies, wildfires and declaration of war on America: "As chaotic promigrant riots continue in Los Angeles, the woke mayor's disturbing past has come to light yet again. Tensions grew increasingly high over the weekend as the Trump administration deployed the National Guard to crack down on the protests over immigration raids. Early Sunday morning Trump took to his Truth Social applauded the National Guard for stepping in to control 'these radical left protests,' while also calling out Governor Gavin Newsom and Mayor Karen Bass for being 'unable to handle the task.' Amid the ongoing immigration riots, Bass's ties to Venceremos Brigade--an international socialist revolution group aimed at challenging US policies toward Cuba--have made their way back into the spotlight after they were revealed just months back during the city's disastrous wildfires." (Disturbing Secret History Of Woke LA Mayor Karen Bass Resurfaces Amid Immigration Riots by Emma Richter). A sleeper agent is a dormant communist operative placed in a target nation to serve as an asset when activated. When this happens, the agent commits acts of sabotage, sedition, espionage and treason. Promoting communist community organizing, the communist Venceromos Brigade, Castro's Cuban Revolution, black communist dictatorship, and communist enslavement under the facade of civil rights, Karen Bass had been a sleeper agent of the international communist movement up until December 4, 2006, when her political career commenced and she was elected to the California State Assembly for the 47th District. At this time she was activated by her masters. On December 12, 2022, Karen Bass, the new mayor elect of Los Angeles, shifted her career into high gear and burned down the city.

MASS MOVEMENTS ASSASSINATE AMERICA

The Lighthouse of Alexandria was one of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World and for centuries the tallest man made structure. Built during the reign of Ptolemy II, 280 BC to 247 BC, it was struck by three earthquakes between 956 and 1303 AD and reduced to rubble. In 1480 AD, a year of infamy, Sultan Al Ashraf Sayf Qaitbay used the stones to build the Citadel of Qaitbay and advance Islamic power. In the twenty first century, another lighthouse has been reduced to rubble and its stones have likewise fallen into the hands of alien powers. This nation was the world's lighthouse of freedom, the policeman on behalf of the West, a beacon for decades standing resolute amidst raging storms of tyranny, and it has been defeated by enemy powers operating within on a mission to destroy its Enlightenment traditions and institutions. In the twenty first century, the United States of America has been reduced to moral and intellectual rubble at the hands of fifth column powers representing global movements championing religions of one form or another, movements which have plunged the West into a new Dark Ages. In the twenty first century, the United States of America is the preeminent face of this new Dark Ages because it was the twentieth century successor to the British Empire as the global superpower in defense of freedom, and its fall has been as spectactular as it has been terrifying, illustrating just how sick the West has become and how far the cancer of irrationalism rejecting the Enlightenment has advanced. The twenty first century is the century of antiEnlightenment and a second religiousness sweeping across the West, and this movement of civilizational collapse has brought down America before the march of three religions. The first religion is an axis comprised of Marxist gender, race and class politics, which has made common cause with Islam and illegal aliens in a war against the Enlightenment. The second religion is an offshoot of Marxism and is called fascism, and replaces class wars with race wars and affects strong opposition to Marxism. The third religion is two thousand years old and terrorized the late Roman Empire, during its stage of decline, and terrorizd the first age of the West. In America in the twenty first century, Christianity has achieved a political influence it has not enjoyed in generations, and is seeking to plunge America into a new Dark Ages under the banners of the Christian Right. The Axis. Look at the axis and see it burn down America's national flag and house of freedom, and wave the alien flags of Mexico, Islam and the Soviet Red Star. See it blow up America with bombs detonated by Mexican drug gangs and global jihad. See it attempt an insurrection targeting Immigration and Customs Enforcement agents, the National Guard and the United States Marines in their efforts to suppress Los Angeles riots protecting illegal aliens from deportation. See a coalition of Marxist billionaires, nongovernmental organizations and Democrat Party officials seek to dismantle constitutional government. See twenty million illegal aliens settle in the nation and rampage through the streets. See it steal the presidential election of 2020 and give victory to Joe Biden through eighty million computer generated votes and fraudulent mail in votes, recorded by video surveillance cameras and mobile phone data, and then suppress an insurrection attempted at the United States Capital building by supporters of the constitution to stop the steal, and to suppress this attempt in the name of protecting democracy. See it destabilize and destroy cities from coast to coast. See it rip up streets and set them on fire in the name of justice and liberation. See it condemn capitalism as a never ending source of grievances by women, nonwhites and the poor, victimized by its injustice and exploitation. See it assault and kill Jews and demonize Israel because these are symbols of Enlightenment modernity which it hates. See it attack every square centimeter of American soil, from college campuses to corporate boardrooms to courts of law to councils of state, with armies of aggression championing communism, keffiyehs and Palestinian terror. See it transform illegal alien criminals into innocent victims of the capitalist system and advocate the overthrow of capitalist America, Israel and the West: "The American flag burns. Foreign banners fly defiantly. ICE agents are met with violence carried out by the bannermen of Mexican cartels and jihadist organizations. These are foot soldiers in a slow motion campaign against the American nation state. ICE agents, the National Guard, and United States Marines are now engaged in direct confrontation with the insurrectionists who fight to dismantle the republic. And it was all planned. The insurrectionists were delivered through a long multinational project funded by the Democrat Party, allied billionaires, and NGOs. Twenty million foreign subverters were waved through our borders as symbols of Democrat Party compassion. But it was always about reclaiming power. The very people who declared the Capitol breach an existential threat to democracy are now presiding over the slow destabilization of American cities. They are generals in the fight to destroy America, and their foot soldiers march under foreign flags in downtown Los Angeles. The prelude and rehearsal for this moment was the summer of 2020. The streets were ablaze with moral grievance, chaos masked as justice, destruction as liberation. The next act unfolded on our campuses, where American Jewish students were harassed, demonized, assaulted, and hunted by an ideological movement animated by hatred of Israel, America, and all of the West. The Jews remain, as ever, the canary in the coal mine. In the LA riots of 2025, Palestinian keffiyehs are everywhere, alongside chants explicitly calling for America's downfall. The tactics of jihad have found new life on American soil. In Gaza, terrorists hide behind human shields. In California, peaceful immigrants are exploited as political shields. Elevated by Democrat politicians as noble victims of a broken system, they now serve as moral camouflage for a more sinister campaign. The formula is simple: blur the line between victim and aggressor. Mask insurrection as empathy." (The Real Insurrection Is Erupting In LA by Marina Bejarano). Look at the axis and see it attack Immigration and Customs Enforcement buildings, seeking to stop efforts to deport illegal aliens. See it condemn Donald Trump as a king and dictator because he seeks to uphold the rule of law and deport illegal aliens, to reduce federal welfare entitlement spending, to abolish policies establishing discrimination on the basis of race and gender in the name of diversity, equity and inclusion, and to affirm the existence of sex chromosomes and the biological reality of human gender, and withdraw official recognition from socalled transgender individuals who purport to be members of the opposite sex. See it launch black clad and black masked hoodlums to blow up law and order and spread panic in the streets in the name of combating fascism and protecting democracy. See it maul apart a free society in a vortex of criminal activities, unlawful assemblies, mass riots and psychopathic violence: "Rioters targeted an Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) building on Portland, Oregon, on Saturday, reportedly leaving several police officers injured after the city's antiTrump No Kings protest took place. Organizers had planned for the protests to happen across the nation as President Donald Trump celebrated the US Army's 250th anniversary with a parade, fireworks, and music in Washington, DC, according to Breitbart News. Fox News reported on Saturday that Homeland Security Assistant Secretary Tricia McLaughlin told the outlet the Portland incident involved a mob launching fireworks, smoke grenades, and rocks at federal officers. She also said the group broke into the ICE facility. 'Four officers were injured during the attack, though federal law enforcement was able to secure the facility,' the report stated. One clip shared online caught the moment the rioters, most of whom were dressed in dark clothing, chanted, This is what democracy looks like! Journalist Andy Ngo shared video footage of officers holding their line against the protesters whom he said were members of Antifa. The No Kings protest happened around 1:00 pm and the Fox report said tens of thousands marched during the event that ended five miles from the ICE building. At that site, Portland Police Bureau (PPB) declared an unlawful assembly that evening. 'About 30 minutes later, PPB said a medical event was reported within the ICE facility and medical personnel needed to enter. They warned rioters not to interfere with police, or 'force may be used against you,' the bureau wrote on social media,' the outlet stated. When PPB officers later noticed criminal activity they said they would start arresting people at the scene. KOIN reported on Saturday that police said they arrested one individual who was accused of assaulting an officer." (Police Officers Injured During Leftist AntiICE Riot In Portland by Amy Furr). Fascism. Look at the rising fascist movement in America proclaim opposition to the Enlightenment ideas of human essentialism, individual rights and a global liberal democratic order in the name of nationalism, populism and racial solidarity: "Tucker Carlson has said many things that challenge liberal orthodoxy, because racist and nationalist populists have a critique of liberalism just as progressive populists do. Distinguishing between left and right populism, between progressive [communist] populism and fascism, should be one of the tasks that a left publication routinely undertakes. Both historically and today, fascism is a doctrine that elevates racial solidarity over laissez-faire capitalism." (The Real Tucker Carlson by Harold Meyerson and Tisya Mavuram). Christianity. Look at a resurgent Christian movement engulf America and shred its constitution. Look at five judges on the United States Supreme Court set up the Dicastery for the Doctrine of the Faith on the High Court bench, and rule that the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment does not mean what it means. Look at the Supreme Court proclaim in 2022, in Dobbs versus Jackson Women's Health Organization, that the right to liberty implied by the Due Process Clause, implied because the word liberty implies the existence of the right or it implies nothing, does not mean the right to liberty. Look at the Court proclaim that there is no constitutional right to an abortion because the word abortion does not appear in the Constitution. Look at the Court proclaim that because the word abortion does not appear in the Constitution, because the right is not "deeply rooted in this Nation's history and tradition" and is not "implicit in the concept of ordered liberty," which in fact it is because the right to liberty means the right to liberty, the states have a right to violate the First Amendment's mandated wall of separation between church and state, and outlaw abortion on the religious grounds. The states have a right to proclaim that at the moment of conception, an actual human person mystically appears out of a potential human person, and that abortion is therefore an act of murder. Look at a resurgent Christian movement engulf America in the black hand of censorship and suppression of antiChristian ideas: "Today's mounting censorship war—and the growing fears among librarians and teachers of being arrested—is another aspect of the culture wars; it's a blazing inferno that's often fueled by Christian nationalist groups that want to suppress anything that offends their faith." (Christian Nationalists Are Demanding The Removal Of Books From Public And School Libraries Across the Country by David Rosen). Look at a resurgent Christian movement violate the First Amendment's mandated wall of separation between church and state and force public schools to sponsor Christian prayers, bible reading and worship of God: "This wave of Christianizing is not limited to the south. In 2023, my home state of Iowa passed legislation granting taxpayer funded scholarships to families who enroll their children in private schools, including Christian ones. And last fall, a wildly successful Christian lobbying group, the Idaho Family Policy Center (IFPC), announced the drafting of a new bill that would require Bible reading in all Idaho public schools. 'By bringing back school sponsored Bible reading, we are bringing God back into public education,' says Morgan MaGill, communications director for IFPC." (Evangelical Education Nearly Ruined Me. Now The Christian Right Is Coming For Public Schools by Josiah Hesse). In the twenty first century, America is a bullet ridden nation. The bullet holes are marked as follows. Marxist diversity, equity and inclusion policies, mandating race and gender discrimination. Marxist gender, race and class politics condemning the Enlightenment as a lash of white, patriarchal, capitalist oppression of women, nonwhites and the poor. Marxist transgender tribal rights denying the existence of sex chromosomes. Marxist stratospheric federal spending and stratospheric federal debt, paid for by stratospheric federal borrowing and stratospheric federal printing of money to finance welfare programs. Marxist dissolution of national borders and settlement of tens of millions of illegal aliens. Marxist suppression free speech and enforcement of political correctness. Marxist rioting, violence and insurrection reducing cities to wastelands. Marxist advancement and emboldenment of global Islamic terror. Fascist condemnation of global capitalism in the name of racism, ethnicism and nationalism. Christians outlawing abortion as murder, mandating state supported public schools and banning antiChristian books in schools. The bullet holes have left a decayed nation during the final century of the West.

BASEBALL STRIKES OUT

It is hailed as America's Pastime and is the nation's national sport. It is a shining symbol of America's traditional values of perserverance, self control, fair play and ethical conduct, and its iconic players, Babe Ruth, Jackie Robinson, Willie Mays and Hank Aaron, are synonyms of sports excellence. This uniquely American sport called baseball has acquired international acclaim, and since its founding in the early nineteenth century, it has been the nation's ambassador of peace and goodwill. In the twenty first century, this American institution, this integral part of American literature, films, music and art, has been fouled by a descent into the number one sickness of our time. Spreading across America and the West sixty years after the first baseball game was played in 1843 at the Elysian Fields in New York, this sickness has dug a sewer flowing with the underworl and dregs of human society for whom freedom is a tyrannical burden and the Enlightenment is the enemy of the people. Since the dawn of the twentiety century, this sewer has produced a rising tide of moral filth which has submerged free institutions and made America a shadow of its former self. In the twenty first century, this sickness, this cancer, this state of collapse called Marxism, in a dramatic illustration of how sick the West has become and how far the cancer has advanced, has swept away baseball's home plate, blocked its home runs and kicked sand at its players. In the twenty first century, this portrait of American national identity has been defaced by a paint can called political correctness and like America and like the West, is unrecognizable. Baseball Today. Look at baseball today and see celebrations of gays, lesbians, bisexuals, nonbinaries and transgenders. See the rainbow flags of transgender psychosis unfurled. See the Pride flags of Marxist tribal politics replace the American flag and Pride anthems replace the American anthem. See every day proclaimed a Pride Day and every month proclaimed a Pride Month. See stadium video screens display in ultrahigh definition the nation's Marxist fueled descent into antiEnlightenment: "Mets fans are voicing their discontent after their team showed the Pride flag during the playing of the national anthem Friday night. Just before their game against the Tampa Bay Rays, as fans stood for the playing of the national anthem, spectators expecting to see the Stars & Stripes on the jumbotron were instead shown the Pride flag. It didn't take long for fans on X to express their anger, especially since the incident occurred on Flag Day. ll MLB teams hold LGBTQ+ events during Pride Month, except for the Texas Rangers. However, this is a first as far as a team displaying the Pride flag during the national anthem. The Mets have yet to make a public statement addressing the incident." See playing fields transformed into amphitheaters of cultural degeneration: "The Boston Red Sox held its annual Pride event on Monday night by forcing fans to endure a Pride Party consisting of a drag show inside the stadium's concourse. 'We know that visibility and inclusivity in sports not only affirm the right of everyone to participate and belong, but also enrich the spirit of competition and camaraderie,' an announcer said over the stadium's public address system, according to OutKick. 'When teams, front offices, and fans come together to create welcoming environments, everyone can thrive, and we prove that we are all better when we stand together,' the stadium announcer added. The team also invited drag queens and other Pride supporters out onto the field to throw out the ceremonial first pitch. Many visitors also received a Sox Pride hat. The Sox lost to the Tampa Bay Rays 10-8." See the Star Spangled Banner rewritten with lyrics demanding the dissolution of national borders. See songs denounce legal citizens and naturalized immigrants. See the defense of illegal aliens in the name of brotherly love and goodness: "Singer and social media influencer Nezza now says she is 'proud of myself' for lying to the Dodgers and telling them she would not sing the US national anthem in Spanish as a protest against President Donald Trump's immigration policies. Instead of performing The Star Spangled Banner ahead of Saturday's game, the singer, who's real name is Vanessa Hernandez, sang the Spanish version of the anthem, entitled El Pendon Estrellado, Hernandez also freely admitted that team officials told her not to sing El Pendon Estrellado, but to sing the proper

English version of the national anthem. She apparently agreed. But she lied and sang the Spanish version anyway. Now, Hernandez is saying she is 'proud of myself' for lying and for singing the anthem in Spanish. Nezza explained in a video posted to TikTok that her parents were immigrants before becoming naturalized citizens, and she can't imagine them being taken away from her by immigration officials. She didn't explain how she imagines her parents, who are legal citizens, might be taken from her. The social media poster then stated through tears that she is doing this 'out of love' and with 'good energy' and added she is proud of herself for lying to the Dodgers and using the American national anthem to support illegal aliens." See Marxist nongovernmental organizations which shield illegal aliens exalted as people's liberation centers. See mass deportations of illegal aliens, multiplying like bacteria in cities across the nation, from Los Angeles to Chicago to New York, condemned as mass oppression of the lords of the earth: "LA Dodgers player Enrique Hernandez took aim at immigration policy and blasted law enforcement for 'violating' the 'human rights' of illegal aliens by deporting them back to where they came. Hernandez, who was born in Puerto Rico, lamented the current unrest over immigration in Los Angeles, and wrote on Instagram that he is 'saddened and infuriated by what's happening in our country and our city,' Fox News reported. 'Los Angeles and Dodger fans have welcomed me, supported me, and shown me nothing but kindness and love,' he added. 'This is my second home. And I cannot stand to see our community being violated, profiled, abused, and ripped apart. ALL people deserve to be treated with respect, dignity, and human rights,' he exclaimed. Los Angeles has been ground zero for the antiAmerican riots spurred by NGOs pumping millions of dollars into the hands of illegal aliens who only care enough about the US for what freebies they can squeeze out of the government. Thousands of people flooded the streets of LA, waving Mexican flags, threatening the safety of law enforcement officers, lighting automobiles on fire, looting stores, and causing untold millions in property damage. One person was also found dead so far. President Donald Trump, though, has remained steadfast in his mass deportation policy. On Sunday, he directed Immigration and Customs Enforcement to expand deportations from America's big, deeply Democrat cities. 'We must expand efforts to detain and deport Illegal Aliens in America's largest cities, such as Los Angeles, Chicago, and New York, where Millions upon Millions of Illegal Aliens reside,' Trump declared on TruthSocial.com." See Georgia's voting reforms, requiring voter identification, limiting ballot drop boxes and barring officials from sending out unsolicited absentee ballot requests, condemned as white power voter suppression. See cultural commissars replace traditional baseball commissioners and promote the overthrow of liberal democracy. See Major League Baseball transformed into Marxist League Baseball: "It is shameful to observe Major League Baseball, ostensibly America's 'national pastime,' once again succumb to the phenomenon, so ably dissected by Shelby Steele of 'white guilt.' In 2021, baseball commissioner Rob Manfred, in an unprecedented move, at the last minute relocated the annual All Star Game from Atlanta to Denver as an act of protest against Georgia's recently enacted voting reforms, which critics had labeled as a form of 'voter suppression'—a claim refuted by the increased voter turnout seen in this month's primaries." (Baseball's Woke Streak by David Lewis Schaeffer). There are nine players on every baseball team: the pitcher, catcher, first baseman, second baseman, third baseman, short stop, left fielder, right fielder, center fielder. In the twenty first century, these traditional roles have been reduced to meaningless terms and been replaced by political activities. In the twenty first century, baseball's players have become propagandists spreading Marxist grievances and agitating for a gender, race and class revolution against civilization.

COMMUNISTS AND FASCISTS OPEN FIRE AGAINST JEWS

The double tap is a shooting technique in which two shots are fired in rapid succession at the same target using the same sight. The aim of the technique is to improve accuracy, and the second shot is invariably more accurate and deadlier than the first. The technique was developed by British police chiefs working in Shanghai, and it is used today by police forces, military forces and special operations forces throughout the world. In the twentieth century, two totalitarian movements took aim at a nation, using the same sights and the same weapons, and opened fire for the same reason. They sought to destroy this nation because it represented all that they passionately hated. This nation represented the world of the Enlightenment, liberal modernity and the Western championing of reason, science and the rights of the individual, and these totalitarian movements condemned it as the incarnation of evil. These movements were versions of the number one religion of our time, collecting the human decay and the dregs of society from the flowing gutters, and forming them into a hate movement directed against the free private individual exalted by liberalism. This religion is called Marxism and two versions of it actuated two totalitarian movements, and made them open fire against the same nation. The two movements were communism and fascism. The first was based on Karl Marx's original religion of class war, and the second, invented by Adolf Hitler, was a racial development of class war, and was a religion of the Aryan master race, supplanting Marx's religion of the proletarian master class. These movements opened fire on Jews, hated symbols of liberal Enlightenment modernity. These movements formed the basis of two governments which battled for world supremacy between 1933 and 1945 as they sought to destroy their common Jewish enemy. One government was the Soviet Union, and the other government was national socialist Germany, and they used the same rifles with the same sights and the same bullets, and fired in rapid succession against the Jewish symbols of the liberal capitalist West. After the fall of Hitler's Third Reich in 1945, the Soviets carried on their attack on Israel and Jews. Listen to the attacks on Jews launched by these two brother regimes. Communist Antizionism. Listen to the Soviet condemnation of zionism as a capitalist movement. Question: What is your attitude about Palestine as a possible Jewish homeland and about a land for the Jews generally? Don't you believe that the antisemitism of German fascism compels a different approach to the Jewish question on the part of communists?* Answer: Both the fascist state in Germany, as well as the Arabian Jewish struggle bring forth new and very clear verifications of the principles that the Jewish question cannot be served within the framework of capitalism. I do not know whether Jewry will be built up again as a nation. However, there can be no doubt that the material conditions for the existence of Jewry as an independent nation could be brought about only by the proletarian revolution. There is no such a thing on our planet as the idea that one has more claim to land than another. The establishment of a territorial base for Jewry in Palestine or any other country is conceivable only with the migrations of large human masses. Only a triumphant socialism can take upon itself such tasks. It can be foreseen that it may take place either on the basis of a mutual understanding, or with the aid of a kind of international proletarian tribunal which should take up this question and solve it. The blind alley in which German Jewry finds itself as well as the blind alley in which zionism finds itself is inseparably bound up with the blind alley of world capitalism, as a whole. Only when the Jewish workers clearly see this interrelationship will they be forewarned against pessimism and despair." (On The Jewish Problem by Leon Trotsky). Listen to the Soviet condemnation of zionism as anticommunist. The condemnation of zionism as a bourgeois movement. The condemnation of zionism as an instrument of world monopoly capitalism headquartered in America: "Modern zionism is the ideology, a ramified system of organizations and the practical politics of the wealthy Jewish bourgeois which has closely allied itself with monopoly circles in the USA and other imperialist countries. The main content of zionism is bellicose chauvinism and anticommunism." (Beware! Zionism by Yuri Ivanov). Listen to the Soviet condemnation of capitalism as anticommunist and antisoviet. The condemnation of zionism as a movement of inhuman, reactionary capitalism. The condemnation of zionism as an organization of world monopoly capitalism. The condemnation of zionism as an instrument of world capitalist colonialism and imperialism. The condemnation of zionism as an enemy of proletarian liberation movements in Africa, Asia and Latin America led by the Soviet Union: "The main posits of modern zionism are militant chauvinism, racism, anticommunism and antisovietism. The inhuman reactionary essence of zionism is overt and covert fight against freedom movements and against the USSR. The International Zionist Organization owns major financial funds, partly through Jewish monopolists and partly collected by Jewish mandatory charities. Serving as the front squad of colonialism and neocolonialism, international zionism actively participates in the fight against national liberation movements of the peoples of Africa, Asia and Latin America." (Great Soviet Encyclopedia, Third Edition, 1969–1978). Fascist Antizionism. Listen to the fascist condemnation of zionism as an instrument of capitalism, Jewish capitalism, British capitalism and Western capitalism, and as the Middle Eastern voice of the Enlightenment: "The Fuhrer replied that Germany's fundamental attitude on these questions, as the Mufti himself had already stated, was clear. Germany stood for uncompromising war against the Jews. That naturally included active opposition to the Jewish national home in Palestine, which was nothing other than a center, in the form of a state, for the exercise of destructive influence by Jewish interests. Germany was also aware that the assertion that the Jews were carrying out the functions of economic pioneers in Palestine was a lie. The work there was done only by the Arabs, not by the Jews. Germany was resolved, step by step, to ask one European nation after the other to solve its Jewish problem, and at the proper time to direct a similar appeal to nonEuropean nations as well. Germany was at the present time engaged in a life and death struggle with two citadels of Jewish power: Great Britain and Soviet Russia. Theoretically there was a difference between England's capitalism and Soviet Russia's communism; actually, however, the Jews in both countries were pursuing a common goal. This was the decisive struggle; on the political plane, it presented itself in the main as a conflict between Germany and England, but ideologically it was a battle between national socialism and Jews. It went without saying that Germany would furnish positive and practical aid to the Arabs involved in the same struggle, because platonic promises were useless in a war for survival or destruction in which the Jews were able to mobilize all of England's power for their ends." (Meeting between Adolf Hitler and the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, Haj Amin al-Husseini, on November 28, 1941, at the Reich Chancellory in Berlin). Twenty First Century. Look at communists today condemn Israel as a white, racist, capitalist regime because it is a free society and does not discriminate against whites. Look at communists on college campuses, in councils of state and in the United States Democrat Party reject justice and morality and make common cause with the forces of terror in Hamas and the Islamic campaign to exterminate Jews, the West and human civilization: "Over the past few months, we have watched violent, antisemitic, unAmerican, and proterrorist mobs take over college campuses across the country, endangering Jewish students and other innocent bystanders. Yet, for months, many Democrats have refused to speak out against the protests. Sadly, this is no surprise. Antisemitism is a disease that the far left, along with liberal university leaders, has allowed to spread. In fact, over the past year, we have watched Democrats spread antiIsrael rhetoric time and time again. Some have called for Israeli Prime Minister Netanyahu to be replaced, one said it was an 'honor' to visit with the proHamas protestors at Columbia University, one defended the phrase 'from the river to the sea,' which implies the destruction of Israel, one denounced Israel as a 'racist state,' and more. In addition, far left Democrats in the House of Representatives have repeatedly voted against legislation supporting Israel. Back in October, immediately following Hamas' barbaric October 7 attack on Israel, nine Democrats voted against a resolution to stand with Israel as it defended itself from the terrorist group. Then, again, just a few weeks ago, thirteen Democrats voted against condemning Iran's missile attack on Israel. The recent actions of the Democrats with respect to Israel are both outrageous and inappropriate. They truly seem to have lost all sense of moral and political clarity and have made it very clear--the far left has a serious antiIsrael problem." (The Far Left's Serious Anti Israel Problem by Tom Cole). In the early twentieth century, Vladimir Lenin's condemned zionism as a "reactionary" capitalist movement, as "bourgeois nationalism" and as "socially regressive" capitalism. His heirs and descendants in the present day have carried on the struggle by totalitarian movements of all stripes to destroy liberal civilization.

MAINSTREET MARXISM

Events of recent years have made it obvious that there is no foolproof way of detecting a communist. The communist individual is no longer a type exemplified by the bearded and coarse revolutionary with time bomb in briefcase. US communists come from all walks of life, profess all faiths, and exercise all trades and professions. In addition, the Communist Party, USA, has made concerted efforts to go underground for the purpose of infiltration. (How To Spot A Communist, US First Army Headquarters, 1955). The disease of cancer occurs when genetically damaged cells proliferate rapidly, uncontrollably and indefinitely. The cancerous cells invade neighboring tissues, malignant tumors spread from primary sites to secondary sites, and the death of the organism is not far off. In the twentieth century, the West was struck by a cancer whose cells quickly began to proliferate. This was a cancer fueled by the flowing sewers of human decay and the dregs of society for whom freedom was a burden, reason was a pursuer, science was a menace and the world of the Enlightenment was a bourgeois lash of oppression. This cancer was the number religion, movement and sickness of our time, and it commenced its journey from the underworld at the dawn of the twentieth century. This cancer is called Marxism, and pitching its appeal to the lowest strata of enviers and haters agitating on the asphalt of capital cities, it has spread into every sector of human activity, from shop floors to corporate suites to college classrooms to courts of law to website columns of cultural and political commentaries, and in the twenty first century, it has brought forth the terrifying, cancerous death of the West. The cancer of Marxism has spread everywhere and left no person untouched, no prince, no pauper and no self made billionaire, and has unfurled the new Marxist rainbow flag of proliferating tribal politics, condemning reason and the Enlightenment in the name of gender, race and class, in the name of women, nonwhites, gays, lesbians, transgenders, Palestinians, Muslims, indigenous groups, poor people and illegal immigrants, over every family, home, school, office and neighborhood in the West. In the twenty first century, the cancer of Marxism has spread everywhere, to blue collar workers and white collar workers, to people wearing suits and people wearing smocks, to rural workers and urban workers, and sits at the table of the neighbors next door, the community center up the street, the law firm in the downtown district and the fast food restaurant around the corner. Listen to the people on the street, the everyman and everywoman in charge of the nation, the majority whose puppets comprise the establishment, and hear the death knell toll for freedom and civilization. Listen to the people speak and hear the suicide of the West. The People. The people proclaim that capitalism is a regime of white oppression. Those who choose not to work have a right to be supported by those who work. All white people, including white

Marxists such as George Soros, must be exterminated. Employers are wage bullies, exploiters, robbers and slave masters and must be exterminated. Capitalism is a regime of white power and must be overthrown in the name of black liberation. A progressive society has rejected all forms of freedom and is an international communist party. Capitalism is a regime of impoverishment and immiseration of the poor, depriving them of the necessities of life, and ensuring that they never own a house or a car or enjoy the technological marvels such as the internet. Capitalism is a regime run by white devils whose mission is to keep blacks in chains forever. Donald Trump is an absolute monarch and ruthless dictator because he is seeking to uphold the rule of law and deport millions of illegal aliens. Israel is a genocidal regime because it seeks to spread Western liberal values into Arab lands ruled by fear, ignorance, superstition and tyranny. A progressive society is ruled by Marxist, Islamist, Jew hating organizations, such as the Palestinian Center for Human Rights, the Center for Constitutional Rights, Freedom Flotilla Coalition, the UN Independent International Commission of Inquiry, the Rockefeller Foundation, the Open Society Foundation, American Federation of Teachers, Communications Workers of America, Tides Center, American Civil Liberties Union, United Way, Johns Hopkins University, and the Public Broadcasting System, dedicated one and all to the destruction of liberal civilization. A progressive society is an anticapitalist organization, a state allocating tax dollars to finance the forces of world revolution: "Some things you just can't make up. I go to my local McDonald's twice a year to eat some unhealthy food. I was sitting there the other day eating my Big Mac, and I noticed at the next table three women and one man discussing life in America under the thumb of white oppressors. Here's some of what I gleaned. 1. No one should be forced to work in such a rich country to live. If you want to work, it should be a choice, not a requirement. 2. George Soros (no mention was made of his son, who now runs things) is another one of those white do gooders who amount to nothing more than useful idiots that we'll dispose of in due time. 3. Capitalist endeavors are all bully versus servant relationships and are demeaning to the point that capitalism can never be reformed. 4. Black liberation is only a matter of time as the white power structure crumbles before our eyes. Before I left, I noticed pamphlets and an open tablet on the table, which I assumed was for signing up. And, just before I departed, the older woman's last statement finally made sense for what I was observing when she disclosed that she was an organizer for the American Communist Party and was recruiting members right here in small town America. Her three targets held laser focused attention (in between munching nugget bites) as she laid out the world according to communism, simplified the problems young people find so intractable, explained why they would never live in a big house and have a cool car, free internet, and told them whom they should hate and ultimately target for these outrages laid at the feet of capitalism. My take was that they were pointing the finger at all those white devils who want to put black people back in chains, keeping them in their place. I am sure I missed more as they were there when I arrived and still going strong as I left. Who knew Karl Marx and Chicken McNuggets were together? I went home, told my wife what I'd seen, and pondered how to put it into perspective. Meanwhile, I flipped on Fox and then CNN (they have better news coverage on rapidly developing situations) and viewed rapidly developing stories: No Kings is an attempt to delegitimize laws against a lot of things that stand in the way of the progressives [Marxists], particularly illegal immigration. Because they can't say that out loud, rioters and protesters frame the debate as Trump's vanity and thirst for power. Organizations that push the narrative that Israel is involved in genocide include the Palestinian Center for Human Rights, the Center for Constitutional Rights, Freedom Flotilla Coalition, and the UN Independent International Commission of Inquiry, among dozens of progressive [Marxist] entities that manipulate public opinion, perversely often on the US taxpayer's dime for antiJewish causes. No Kings is heavily supported by the Rockefeller Foundation, Soros's Open Society Foundation, American Federation of Teachers, Communications Workers of America, the Tides Center, American Civil Liberties Union, United Way, Johns Hopkins University, and even PBS and many other antiTrump and anticapitalist organizations that frequently accept government grant money. The communist cell at McDonald's is a metaphor for all those American haters who work ceaselessly to seek an end to the American experiment. The Communist Party USA is classified as a political organization under Section 527 of the Internal Revenue Code, meaning it is exempt from federal income tax on contributions and fundraising. Does it make sense to any of my readers that we can't identify and eliminate or minimize organizations dedicated to destroying our country? Diversity of thought is one thing. Actively supporting through government grants, financial donations, or providing access to our young within our schools to plant antiAmerican ideas seems more than crazy." (Selling Communism At The Fast Food Outlet by Allan Feifer). The People. The people defend Marxist malevolence. They sing Marxist protest songs. They elect Marxist labor leaders. They are students of Marxist philosophy, history, revisionism, fabrications, traditions and legislation. They commune with communist mysteries and obscurities. They join Marxist youth organizations. They agitate for Marxism on farms, in city streets and every place there are ears to listen, spreading a totalitarian gospel of fists, force and total control: "Caleb Maupin would like you to know he's not a super villain, despite what you may have seen on TV. The 22 year old is chatty and affable, a skinny pale kid with a burning bush of unruly red hair. When it comes to talking politics, he's obviously done his homework: facts, dates, obscure legislation, the fates of forgotten labor leaders, snippets of protest songs—in conversation he drops all forms of arcana from the annals of the American left. In part, he's learned the game as a careful student of history, but he also sees himself as an inheritor of the radical tradition. Maupin is the leader of a small group of like minded communists called Cleveland FIST, the local arm of a national youth organization. Maupin's sidekick is Adam Gluntz, a stocky blond philosophy student from Baldwin-Wallace College. Together, they're a straight faced Laurel and Hardy of liberal [Marxist] radicalism: two white guys from suburban and rural backgrounds who have inserted themselves at the forefront of the local far left." (The Commies Next Door by Kyle Swenson). An epidemic is the rapid spread of a disease through a population. If an epidemic spreads across the world, it is called a pandemic. In the twentieth century, the West was struck by a malarial fever carried by the rats and fleas of Marxism. It was struck during the twilight stage of civilization, the stage embracing religion and rejecting reason. In the twenty first century, the fever has intensified, become a pandemic, and rendered the host delirious, unstable, out of control and a menace to civilized pockets of resistance.

MARXISTS MASSACRE COLUMBIA

Saint Valentine's Day is a popular holiday in the West celebrating love and romance, and involves men sending cards, flowers and chocolates to the women in their lives. Celebrated annually on February 14, it is festooned with red hearts projecting devoted affection across the land. On February 14, 1929, in Chicago, Illinois, Valentine's Day was blackened by hate and violence which would change the city forever. On this day, seven members of Bugs Moran's North Siders gang were lined up against a wall and shot by members of Al Capone's Chicago Outfit gang in a war for the control of the city. In the twenty first century, the warehouse at West Dickens Avenue and North Clark Street where the gangland murders took place has been carried away by the winds of history, sent racing down the corridors of time, and been set down in a land 1300 kilometers away from Chicago. In the twenty first century, organized crime has seized control over Columbia with only the faces and colors changed from Chicago's nightmare early morning massacre a century before. In Columbia in the twenty first century, the faces and colors of organized crime are the faces and colors of the number religion, mass movement and organized crime gang of our time, and it has achieved final victory in the nation whose motto i*s Freedom and Order*, rendering the noble words null and void. Collecting the human decay and dregs of society from the flowing underworld sewers, this movement is known as Marxism, and in the twenty first century, it has riddled Columbia with bullet holes as it has seized control over the West. Marxism, tribal politics, the religion of gender, race and class, and the rejection of the legacies of the Enlightenment is the ruler of Columbia after decades of struggle which saw Marxist coups, depositions and armed conflicts, and has established violence and revolution as official government policy. Marxism, a movement prostate, procollective, antiindividual and antiscience, has composed a manifesto for Columbia in the twenty first century which has sent freedom and the rule of law implanted by the explorers, empires, kingdoms, conquistadors and colonialists of Spain into the dustbin of history. Marxism, the twenty first century President, Council of Ministers, Chamber of Representatives, Senate and Constitutional Court of Columbia, has composed a manifesto for the destruction of the nation's liberal European heritage, culture and identity. Columbia Today. The new Marxist king of Columbia proclaims that a progressive society condemns the voices of freedom and capitalism as right wing fascists and seeks to assassinate them. A progressive society sends Marxist gunman to open fire on crowds of antiMarxists. A progressive society hires fourteen year old killers to execute antiMarxists. A progressive society is a Marxist criminal conspiracy aimed at antiMarxist parties and movements. A progressive society is a Marxist drug cartel and revolutionary movement. A progressive society is Marxist fueled vice, crime, drug trafficking and mafia wars. A progressive society negotiates with and gives total power to Marxist terror groups in the name of establishing Total Peace. A progressive society is a Marxist guerrilla force. A progressive society is a Marxist M19 movement exalting violence as the highest type of adventure. A progressive society is a Marxist military state which has abolished civilian society. A progressive society is a permanent mobilization of Marxist militants. A progressive society is a theater of violent Marxist activities justified in the name of national liberation. A progressive society is a jungle of Marxist terror, drug markets and coca production. A progressive society is a Marxist wilderness unfit for human habitation: "Columbia 'was shaken this past week when Senator Miguel Uribe Turbay, a prominent right wing politician and candidate for president, was shot in the head on Saturday. Uribe was out campaigning in the capital city of Bogota when a gunman opened fire from the crowd, hitting him twice in the head and once in the leg. Videos of the chaos following the shooting quickly went viral on social media: the senator’s supporters desperately pressing shirts to the side of his head in an attempt to stem the bleeding, the gore smearing the hood of a nearby car. The would be assassin, captured at the scene after a brief shoot out with pursuing law enforcement, was a young hired killer just 14 years old—not an uncommon sight in Latin America, where cartels and other criminal organizations often employ such sicarios as cheap and disposable agents. The shooter was the least important member of a significant conspiracy that planned and executed the assassination attempt against Uribe; police have identified no fewer than five other participants who surveilled the location and helped plan the attack, and even provided the weapon used to shoot Uribe. Attempts to identify and locate the rest of the conspirators, as well as their contacts or superiors, have thus far been (at least from what has been released to the public) to no avail, so the exact motive for the shooting remains unknown. However, it would be far from surprising if it is eventually discovered to be an operation conducted by one of the cartels or revolutionary movements Colombia hosts in abundance. While Colombia had managed to tame the worst excesses of organized crime within its borders—steadily lowering the murder rate from over 80 per 100,000 in the 1990s to about 25 per 100,000 in 2024—in recent years progress on crime and internal security in the region has slowed and begun to reverse. Colombia’s current president, Gustavo Petro, came to power on the platform of Total Peace, his name for a government program of open negotiation with all of Colombia’s revolutionary groups. Petro himself is a former guerrillero, having fought for the M-19 revolutionary movement in his youth until it signed a demilitarization agreement with the government, and is a strong proponent of convincing revolutionaries and guerrilleros to lay down their arms and rejoin civil society. Many militants simply refused to demobilize, shattering the old organization into a multitude of independent fragments fighting over the territory and drug markets. Humiliatingly for Petro, few guerrilleros in the country apparently share his enthusiasm for peace. His open negotiating table has been a complete failure; not even one militant group has signed a demilitarization agreement with the government. Instead, they have begun to ramp up their violent activities: In January, the largest guerrilla movement in the country, the National Liberation Army (ELN) broke the ceasefire it had negotiated with the government and began a war with other cartels and revolutionary groups over lucrative coca producing land in the Colombian wilderness." (Colombia Comes Apart by Joseph Addington). Columbia Today. Columbia's new establishment proclaims that a progressive society is a Marxist revolutionary armed force. A progressive society is a Marxist terror organization. A progressive society is a Marxist attack machine targeting police and government buildings. A progressive society is a never ending wave of terror attacks directed against antiMarxists. A progressive society is a Marxist drug trafficking operation. A progressive society is a Marxist military operation. A progressive society is a Marxist kidnapping, hostage taking and killing operation. A progressive society is an illegal Marxist gold mining operation. A progressive society is a Marxist organization and preparation directed against peace and security paraded in the name of achieving peace and security. A progressive society is a Marxist mass mobilization which does not know what the word demobilization means. A progressive society awards Nobel Peace Prizes to Marxist presidents who give Marxist terror groups immunity from the law and automatic political power in the form of uncontested seats in parliament. A progressive society launches drone attacks against liberal democracy, explosive vehicle attacks against liberal democracy, and seeks to overthrow the military and police forces protecting law, order and the West: "The Revolutionary Armed Forces of Colombia (FARC) Marxist terrorist organization launched 24 near simultaneous deadly bomb attacks in the Southwestern regions of Valle del Cauca and Cauca on Tuesday, killing eight and leaving at least 78 injured. Fourteen victims are reportedly in critical condition at press time. Most of the attacks targeted local police and government facilities. According to several local law enforcement officials, including the head of Colombia's National Police Carlos Triana, the 'fundamental and principal factor' behind FARC's latest wave of terrorist attacks is 'commemorating the anniversary of the death of former FARC chief Leider Johani Noscue, also known as Mayimbu.' Noscue, who reportedly joined FARC at the age of 12, was killed in a military operation on June 13, 2022, and oversaw the terrorist organization's drug trafficking activities in Northern Cauca and Valle de Cauca until his death. Mayimbu is attributed with at least 15 homicides as well as kidnapping and terrorist attacks. The FARC group that was once under his command controlled an illegal gold mining operation dismantled by the Colombian military in 2019 that generated an income of up to $440,000 per year for the terrorist organization. 'We know that for these organizations commemorative dates have a high symbolic value. That is why they prepare violent actions in advance,' Cali deputy police commander German Manrique told El Tiempo. The FARC, originally founded in 1966, claim the guerrilla 'abandoned terrorism' and 'demobilized' after the group signed a supposed 'peace deal' in 2016 with former Colombian President Juan Manuel Santos, for which he won a Nobel Peace Prize that year." (Colombia: Marxist FARC Goes On Bombing Spree After Conservative Senator Shot by Christian Caruzo). In 1967, an imaginative businessman named George Patey recovered bricks from the garage wall in Chicago where the St Valentine's Day Massacre occurred. The bricks are on display at the famous Mob Museum in Las Vegas, Nevada. Pockmarked with bullet holes and stained with blood, these bricks have served as templates for Marxist masons in the twenty first century to build a house of fear called Columbia.

THE RED HAND OF BLUESKY

The Hamilton Mausoleum is located in the town of Lanarkshire, Scotland, and is the resting place of the family of the Dukes of Hamilton. Its high stone vault holds a record. It is the record for the longest echo of a man made structure in the world, taking fifteen seconds for a loud sound to fade. Visitors slamming the entrance doors of the building are astounded at this property. The echo chamber, an enclosed space where sound reverberates. The twenty first century has seen the construction of an echo chamber in cyberspace. Analagous to the acoustic echo chamber, it is a place of echoes and repetitions in which no ideas from the outside are allowed to enter. It exists in social media and newsites and is a faithful reflection of the spirit of the times. It reflects the influence of the number one mass movement and religion of our times exercises over the West. Collecting the human decay and dregs of society, the flowing sewers of haters, enviers and tribalists of all stripes and varieties, this movement is known as Marxism and it has invaded the internet, cancelled free speech, and set up an ideological echo chamber rivaling the regimes of the former Communist Bloc. Founded in 2019, available in forty languages, used by over 37 million people and headquartered in Seattle, Washington, the social media platform Bluesky is the preeminent Marxist echo chamber on the internet, exemplifying in its texts, images and videos the ideological lockstep into the West has fallen in the twenty first century. Like families, homes, schools, offices and businesses throughout the West, Bluesky is an environment in which people encounter beliefs communicating, repeating, amplifying and reinforcing Marxism and nothing else. It is an environment in which people search for, interpret and recall information confirming their Marxist prejudices. It is an environment preventing exposure to antiMarxist perspectives and blasting out Marxist narratives and ideologies. In the twenty first century, Bluesky is the West, and its manifesto of Marxist thought control is the announcement of the West's final stop into a crash. In the twenty first century, the West has morally and spiritually collapsed into a new religiousness ruled by Marxism and has decisively rejected the Enlightenment. Bluesky. Listen to Bluesky and hear the suicide of the West messaged and voiced in audiovisual notional space. Bluesky proclaims that a progressive social media platform provides a safe space for Marxism. It is an intolerant echo chamber of the Marxist left. It is a world overflowing with Marxist hate. It is the black hand of Marxist censorship and opposition to free speech. It is glorious space where Marxists can congregate and disseminate their passions without fear of challenge or contradiction. It is a space which condemns antiMarxist views as fascist. It is a space which condemns antiMarxist views as national socialist. It is an inquisition enforcing Marxist orthodoxy. It is a rifle volley of verbal attacks against antiMarxists without proof or evidence of any kind. It is a space blazing with negativity toward antiMarxist views. It is a space in which Marxists need not fear being triggered and traumatized by antiMarxist views. It is a hermetically sealed Marxist universe. It is a space in which people converse with Marxists and with nobody else. It is a dark, airtight, one hundred percent protected Marxist space. It is the antithesis of diversity of thought. It is a space prioritizing and valuing the Marxist party line. It is a space sick with a fever of Marxist sensitivity toward opposing views. It is a sheltered and secluded digital space reserved for the haters of liberal civilization: "Bluesky has become a safe space for liberals [Marxists] seeking to avoid the triggering presence of opposing views since the Trump reelection. The relatively small site now has over 30 million followers. Now, however, users like billionaire Mark Cuban are complaining that Bluesky is just another intolerant echo chamber on the left and some are reportedly returning to X. Billionaire Mark Cuban was one of the early champions of the site, writing 'Hello Less Hateful World' in joining the site in November 2024. At the time, some of us criticized the premise of the Bluesky devotees. Many of them supported the antifree speech and censorship efforts during the Biden Administration. Bluesky offered a replication of the echo chamber in higher education, where liberals [Marxists] can go unchallenged or uncontradicted. This included some of the most intolerant figures in media, academia and the government. Now, Cuban and others are experiencing what many of us have lived through in higher education for years, an orthodox environment where even marginal disagreements are treated as litmus tests. Cuban this week decried that 'Even if you agree with 95% of what a person is saying on a topic, if there is one point that you might call out as being more of a gray area, they will call you a fascist etc.' In his post on Monday, Cuban notes 'Talk AI: FU, AI sucks go away. Talk Business: Go away. Talk Healthcare: Crickets.' He says that Bluesky offers more of a right to diatribes than dialogues: 'agree with me, or you are a nazi fascist. We are forcing posts to X.' That is the same view expressed in a Washington Post column, titled The Bluesky Bubble Hurts Liberals And Their Causes. The column says exactly what many of us predicted last year: 'The result is something of an echo chamber where it's hard to get positive engagement unless you're saying things progressives want to hear—and where the negative engagement on things they don't want to hear can be intense.' The problem is that many users went to Bluesky because they did not want to be challenged in a free speech environment. It is a site for those who do not wish to be 'triggered' by opposing views. If you only watch MSNBC and post on Bluesky, you can live within a hermetically sealed liberal [Marxist] space without the fear of contradiction or opposition. Bluesky will be able to capitalize off the draw as a safe space for the left with uniformly favorable media coverage. It also offers a concentrated membership of liberal [Marxist] users for Democratic politicians and pundits. It is harmful to the left in further insulating themselves from reality. Take a typical user like a Harvard professor who watches MSNBC and reads the New York Times. She then goes to work at a university with a faculty that has less than three percent of conservatives or Republicans and less than ten percent conservative or Republican students. She then goes to Bluesky to converse within a liberal [Marxist] ecosystem on social media. It is a virtual biocontainment tent that filters out any discordant elements. The reason that many on the left were shocked by the election results is that they lived within these protected spaces. They have removed themselves further from the majority of this country, disengaging with anyone who objects to their priorities and values. Within that echo chamber, opposing views become more intolerable and shocking. Bluesky will continue to be a draw for free speech phobic and viewpoint intolerant users. Cuban's call for greater diversity of thought on Bluesky is unlikely to alter the culture of a site that is maintained as a safe space for liberals [Marxists]. That cloistered environment only increases sensitivity and intolerance for opposing views. It is akin to developing an immune deficiency from a lack of exposure to certain elements. If Cuban and others want robust debate, they will not find it in digital safe spaces like Bluesky." (Clouds Over Bluesky: The Left's Social Media Safe Space Under Fire For Intolerant And Hateful Postings by Jonathan Turley). Bluesky. Listen to Bluesky proclaim that a progressive social media platform has a Marxist userbase and nothing beyond this. It flags and censors antiMarxist views. It excludes all views deviating to the slightest degree from the prevailing, mainstream, Marxist party line. It is run by full time Marxist employees specializing in agitation and propaganda. It is a social network dedicated to Marxist subversion. It is a media landscape leveled and poisoned by Marxist mushroom clouds. It establishes content moderation rules banning antiMarxist views in the name of establishing a safe and positive online environment: "Fledgling social media upstart Bluesky has enjoyed a surge in new users over the past week, more than doubling its user base to over 15 million as leftists flee from X/Twitter. However, the rapid growth has also brought significant moderation challenges for the young company. The overwhelmingly leftist userbase has been flooded the company with flagged posts, requests for censorship. The New York Times reports that in the midst of significant changes in the social media landscape, Bluesky, a relatively new social network, has experienced an unprecedented surge in growth. Founded by former Twitter CEO Jack Dorsey, Bluesky was initially introduced as an invitation only prototype with the intention of closely managing its growth. However, the past week has seen the platform's user base more than double, surpassing 15 million users as people seek alternatives to established networks such as X, Facebook, and Threads. The rapid growth of Bluesky has propelled the app to the top of both Apple's and Google's app stores, where it currently holds the position of the most downloaded free app. This sudden influx of users has forced the company, which consists of only 20 full time employees, to adapt and scale up its operations practically overnight. On X/Twitter, users are noting that the new platform is quick to censor anyone engaged in wrongthink, including one user allegedly banned on the same day he signed up, echoing the previous Twitter moderation rules before Elon Musk bought the company." (Leftist X Refugees Flood Bluesky With Complaints, Censorship Requests by Lucas Nolan and Colin Madine). Goskomizdat: in charge of censoring all printed matter. Goskino: in charge of censoring the cinema. Gosteleradio: in charge of censoring radio and television broadcasting. These were the organs of state censorship in the Soviet Union. Pervasive, frightening and inescapable, the totalitarian suppression of thought has appeared wherever Marxism has become ascendant. In the twenty first century, in an interactive technology which creates, shares and aggregates content, Marxist censors have appeared, obeying orders issued by the cultural establishment. In the twenty first century, a new Soviet regime has been set up in cyberspace in a microblogger called Bluesky.

Colored Waiting Room: sign at a Greyhound bus terminal in Georgia, 1943. We Cater To White Trade Only: sign on a restaurant window in Lancaster, Ohio, 1938. This facility is not a hotel and caters to Christian clientele only: sign at Lakeside Farm, Goshen, Connecticut, 1942. Recently we have witnessed the rise of the new left which identifies Israel with the establishment, with acquisition, with smug satisfaction, with, in fact, all the basic enemies. Let there be no mistake: the new left is the author and the progenitor of the new antisemitism. (Abba Eban, Congress Biweekly, American Jewish Congress, Volume 40). Hatred of blacks. Hatred of Jews. Hatred based on group identity has a long, dark and ugly history in America, and has flourished wherever and whenever people have renounced the nation's founding ideals expressed in the Constitution. America is a child of the Enlightenment and is dedicated in its basic laws and documents to upholding the Enlightenment principles of human universalism, human essentialism, human equality and human rights. America in its definition is a race blind, gender blind and class blind society which treats individuals as individuals and condemns all forms of discrimination. The primary mover of discrimination today is the primary religious and political movement of our time. It has captured the hearts and minds of the masses like no other religion except Islam in the East, and it has formed the human decay and dregs of society into an establishment force which has stamped its party line on every sector of human activity. This movement is known as Marxism, and the popularity of its rejection of reason, its exaltation of mystical tribalism, and its Frankenstein monster of gender, race and class politics, brought to life by the currents of the logic of tribalism, has taken over the cultural, academic, entertainment, sports and political establishment of America and made the nation unrecognizable. The nightmare creature of Marxist gender, race and class politics has been on a rampage since the mid1960s, and in the twenty first century, it has left no tradition and institution unscathed. In the twenty first century, the greatest professional basketball association in the world, ranking number one in popularity, salaries, talent and level of competition, has succumbed to the monster. In the twenty first century, the world's premier basketball league, founded eighty years ago and headquartered in the soaring Olympic Tower in Midtown Manhattan, has been killed by the disease. In the twenty first century, the National Basketball Association has been transformed into a fiery cross of race hate The colors have changed from yesteryear along with the religion, but the flames of hate blaze just as brightly as before, and they have incinerated the West in a global Marxist conflagration. In the twenty first century, the National Basketball Association has become a blacks only club governed by a Marxist Jim Crow charter of antiwhite racism. The NBA. Look at the NBA today and see white athletes like Caitlin Clark targeted for destruction. See rampant prejudice against white players by black Marxists. See the proclamation that blacks who hate whites and are racist against whites do not in fact hate whites and are not in fact racist against whites. See white players subjected to round the clock verbal and physical attacks by black players. See black players assault whites in the name of avenging black victimhood at the hands of the white capitalist slave regime. See black players manufacture hoaxes of white assaults on black players. See black players slander white players as feckless cowards. See black players exclude heterosexual white women and show favoritism toward black lesbian Marxist. See black racism elevated to official league policy. See black players shouting racist chants at white players. See black players condemn white players as fucking white trash. See black performers subject outstanding white players to torrents of venom and vitriol. See black players condemn successful white players as beneficiaries of white privilege. See black players force white players to apologize for being white. See black players transform basketball into a game of race, define a foul as any action performed by a white player, and foul out the white players on a regular basis: "Much controversy has erupted over how certain WNBA players treat Caitlin Clark, a white athlete with the Indiana Fever, and many people are pointing to racism. But many people on the left insist that blacks can be prejudiced, but they can't be racist. A former editorial editor at Harvard's Crimson publication writes on the ideology here: 'As one African-American lead character from the 2014 movie 'Dear White People' argues, 'Black people can't be racist. Prejudiced, yes, but not racist. Racism describes a system of disadvantage based on race. Black people can't be racists since we don't stand to benefit from such a system.' Therefore, as the left would argue, the abuse that Clark has had to tolerate primarily from black players on other teams must be something other than racism. This debate goes far beyond basketball, and reflects a mindset of the black community for believing that they are victims. Angel Reese, a black player, has been at the center of the controversy of verbal and physical attacks on Clark, and has alleged that there have been racist attacks on her, too: 'The WNBA launched another investigation into alleged racism toward Angel Reese, who portrays herself as Clark's chief rival. Once again, the league found nothing. Angel Smollett struck again. Add that to the growing list of hoaxes in the world of sports. Meanwhile, there are actual examples of racism in the WNBA. Days after Reese appeared to lie to reporters about the alleged racist chants, she shared a TikTok video mocking Clark as a little 'white girl afraid to catch a fade' with a photo of Reese trying to fight her. Last Thursday, Brittney Griner appeared to utter 'Trash, fucking white girl' from the bench of a game against the Fever.' Some black players are upset because Caitlin Clark is such an outstanding performer on the court: how dare a white, straight woman be competition to the black players? The basketball court has always been primarily their domain. And the black community which sees itself as victims doesn't realize that they are putting themselves in this pitiful position, all by themselves. It's time to face these actions and behaviors and call them out for what they are—black racism: 'So, can we finally have an honest talk about race? If so, some obvious statements should be made. Caitlin Clark's fans are not racist. The people angered at the success of a white woman are the racists. Clark doesn't have white privilege. If she did, she wouldn't have to keep apologizing for her skin color. More people hate Clark because of her skin color than love her for it. None of that should be so hard to say, yet so few people are willing to say it. The discussion around Caitlin Clark underscores how we are a nation still too afraid to discuss race honestly. And that has to change. This is bigger than basketball.' " (Black Racism Is Bigger Than Basketball by Susan Quinn).

The NBA. Look at the NBA today and see the class of white heterosexual, ethnic Europeans condemned as a cursed demographic deserving of extermination. See white players dropped from the league in the name of achieving a special, higher, mystical form of fairness transcending ordinary fairness, a form of fairness which is unfairness, and is called by the name of equity. See white players dropped from the league in the name of a special, higher, mystical form of justice transcending ordinary justice, a form of justice which is injustice, and is called by the name of racial justice. See hiring procedures which discriminate in favor of black, lesbian Marxists and black bisexual Marxists. See a professional sports association transformed into an institution for race based research and experimentation and the advancement of black power agitation, propaganda and enforcement. See discrimination against whites justified in the name of achieving diversity and inclusion in sports. See the rejection of the principle of meritocracy and the hiring of players on the basis of their skin color.

See talented, successful, white, heterosexual women fired because they make untalented, unsuccessful, black lesbian players feel uncomfortable. See the rejection of sports excellence and the endorsement of the global Marxist brand of race politics: "Even I know that 22 year old Iowan college phenom and now WNBA star Caitlin Clark is an outstanding talent who is helping to draw a whole new generation of fans to women's basketball. The left leaning media pay lip service to gratitude about this, but can't help carping about the fact that Clark belongs to a demographic they openly despise: straight, white Midwesterners. An editorial in the reliably far left Los Angeles Times, for example, frets that Clark's popularity 'draws questions of race and equity'--because the LA Times puts a race and equity spin on every editorial. The piece notes that 'approximately 70% of [WNBA] players are Black, nearly a third identify as LGBTQ and most come from urban environments,' but 'Clark is white, straight and from Iowa.' The Times doesn't explicitly state what's wrong with being a straight white Iowan, but we all know what the problem is: the left literally worships diversity unless straight white people get in the mix. Then it's, 'There goes the neighborhood.' The article goes on to cite female critics complaining that straight white Clark is getting attention, accolades, and endorsements that lesbian black players aren't (the inconvenient fact that Clark can shoot circles around those other players is largely disregarded). 'Caitlin fits a very comfortable narrative for a lot of people in the United States,' said Nicole Melton, codirector of the Laboratory for Inclusion and Diversity in Sport at the University of Massachusetts (as an aside, why is there such a thing as a Laboratory for Inclusion and Diversity in Sport? Sport is naturally diverse and inclusive–it includes everybody who can play well, regardless of skin color)." (Shooting Down Caitlin Clark by Mark Tapson). Montgomery, Alabama, 1955. Rosa Parks refuses to move to the back of the bus for a white passenger. Her act of defiance sparks a one year bus boycott in the city and makes her an international icon of defiance of race hate. In the twenty first century, the forces of racial segregation are still in business in America. Marching under the banners of Marxism, black supremacists occupy the courts of the National Basketball Association.
